More Carving On Larkspur Mountain Denied

By JEFF GREER

The city planning commission unanimously denied a grading permit to the Adolph A. Tiscornia estate to carve 360,000 cubic yards of fill from the hilltop and neighboring slopes, mostly to fill 25 acres of lowland holdings between Magnolia Avenue and Corte Madera Creek.

The commission also took steps to bring the entire 310-acre Tiscornia property, some inside Larkspur and some in the county area, into an "S" or study zone. This could temporarily freeze development on the property, pending a decision on the North Ridge open space proposal and revision of the city's zoning ordinance and general plan. Development would be permitted only through use permit procedures, according to City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst.

Amid the audience hubbub over the grading permit denial, Paul Vincilione, husband of Tiscornia estate executrix Alice B. Copeland Vincilione, strode forward and instructed their planning consultant, Dan Coleman, to appeal the denial.

The appeal must be filed within seven days to gain a hearing by the city council, Bathurst said.

Vincilione also removed from the agenda a parallel hearing, on rezoning of part of the estate. The two items were the only business before the planners at last night's adjourned meeting.

The start of the lengthy grading permit hearing was delayed while a city fireman debated whether to order part of the audience to leave because the crowd exceeded the city hall hearing chamber's legal limit of 94 persons. He finally compromised by excluding the planning commissioners, city staff and applicants from the census, and ignoring overflow audience members who sat in an outer lobby.

Coleman and attorney Wallace S. Myers were the only speakers for the grading permit. Coleman displayed numerous slides showing the estate's plans to flatten the top of Little King Mountain at about 350 feet elevation. He argued that the excavation would be invisible from most of the surrounding lowlands, and would improve the scarred conditions left by extensive earlier excavations atop the mountain.

He said 260,000 cubic yards of the borrow material would be hauled across Magnolia Avenue to the lowlands property opposite the old Lescalle Winery area where the Vinciliones make their home. Coleman stressed that the family had no actual plan for development of any of the land at this time.

Myers told the commission that there was no legal reason the grading permit should not be granted.

Reagan's Insurance Plan For 17 Million

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan has proposed a plan to insure every Californian against catastrophic medical costs for $3 a month.

Reagan says his proposal is geared for the 17 million middle-income Californians who are too affluent for government-sponsored Medi-Cal health care but too poor to avoid financial disaster should cancer, stroke, severe kidney disease or a crippling accident strike.

The governor's press office said no plan like it exists anywhere.

In a message taped for statewide television and radio Tuesday, Reagan said his proposal "represents a reasonable and necessary alternative to the schemes being proposed by some at the federal level who fervently desire the adoption of socialized medicine but hide their intentions under the cloak of what they describe as 'national health insurance.'"

The Republican governor's plan was immediately attacked by two of the Legislature's most powerful Democrats — Assembly Speaker Bob Meretti of Van Nuys and Senate Majority Leader Geroge R. Moscone of San Francisco.

Moscone called it "a boondoggle for the insurance industry" and Moretti said it is too conservative. Both indicated they will offer separate plans later.

Here are the basic elements of Reagan's proposal, to be introduced in the Legislature by Assemblyman William Campbell, R-Hacienda Heights:

Except for military personnel and Medi-Cal recipients, all Californians earning more than $500 annually ($1,000 per family) would be required to pay catastrophic health insurance premiums of $3 per month. This would be deducted from their paychecks, like state income tax.

They would be insured against catastrophic medical costs. Once a patient's own private policy ran out, the catastrophic plan would pay all medical bills. If the patient did not have a basic policy approved by the state, the catastrophic plan would take over once $8,000 in medical expenses were incurred.

The bulk of the better-known private plans would meet state approval, thus qualifying policy holders for immediate catastrophic coverage once basic benefits ran out.

An estimated 17.6 million California income earners and their dependents would be covered. The state figures 10,000 would benefit annually, drawing an average of $25,000.

If a husband and wife worked, both would be required to pay the $3 monthly premiums.

Roughly 8.4 million persons would pay the $3 monthly premiums, producing $300 million annually. Of this, $250 million would be spent on benefits. Another $20 million would finance administration and $30 million would be set aside as a "reserve."

The catastrophic plan would be administered by a state Health Security Commission and

U.S. Must Be Capable Of 2-Prong A-War—Moorer

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Adm. Thomas H. Moorer said tbday that the United States must stay strong enough to be prepared to fight a nuclear war with both the Soviet Union and China at the same time.

Moorer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said that was a necessity "regardless of how the relations among these three nations may develop in the future."

"Even if we were involved in a nuclear war with only one of these nations," Moorer said, "we would still need sufficient strategic forces to deter — simultaneously —a nuclear attack from the other."

Moorer made the statements in his annual report in U.S. military preparedness, emphasizing China's growing nuclear strength on the eve of President Nixon's departure for Peking — the first time a U.S. president has visited China while in office.

China has emerged as "perhaps the third most important nuclear power in the world," the top-ranking American military officer said in testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Moorer said recent military developments in China and the Soviet Union made it clear the United States had passed its peak as a world military power and now was on the decline.

"In the next quarter of a century the PRC (People's Republic of China) certainly has the potential to emerge as a third major power center, and we cannot rule out the possibility that in the same period Western Europe may emerge as a fourth major power center," Moorer said.

"The People's Republic of China is now emerging as a still minor, but nonetheless important nuclear power in the world.

"The relative military power of the United States in the world has clearly peaked and is now declining. Henceforth, we will have to plot our course witH much greater precision and calculate our risks much more closely."

By 1975 or 1976, he said, China may have an intercontinental missile capable of hurling a three-megaton warhead 6,000 miles — far enough to reach all major targets in the United States and Russia.

Moorer said that the past five years had produced "a most dramatic shift in the balance of power — particularly strategic nuclear power — between the United States and the Soviet Union."

The United States still holds a good qualitative lead in nuclear forces and a tenuous quantitative lead, Moorer said.

But he said that "unless there was either a strategic arms limitation agreement or vigorous new weapons development by the United States, "we cannot rule out the possibility that ... the Soviet Union could achieve a position of overall strategic superiority within this decade."

Moorer said China's army is A larger army than that of either the United States or the Soviet Union, but lacks the vehicles and heavy weapons such as tanks which the other two have and thus constitutes "essentially an infantry force."

167-Acre Marin City Ridge Goes To Development Firm

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday unanimously approved a pact to swap 167 acres of ridgeland property in Marin City for 60 acres of redevelopment land within the town. (Other board of supervisors stories, page 12.)

The board told the Marin County Housing Authority and the Marin County Redevelopment Agency they could put their much-delayed signatures on the agreement with California Development Co. of New York.

Board member Michael Wornum, who had represented the county in a negotiation session with the company in New York earlier this year, told his fellow board members and the audience that the best possible agreement had been reached with the company, and that it should be signed.

In addition to giving California Development title to the ridgeland and the two agencies title to the lowland, the agreement provides without specifics that the community shall share profits of ridgeland development and have a say in its planning.

The issue of redevelopment in Marin City has been debated for many years, board chairman Peter Arrigoni said, and the agreement should be signed now so that work can proceed. He said the county possesses enough power now to control what the development company does with the ridgeland.

Residents of the area, who nearly filled the supervisors' meeting room, applauded after the supervisors voted.

The board was supported in its decision by several Marin City homeowners. The community needs an increased tax base, one homeowner told the supervisors, and moderately-priced homes would attract the people to raise it.

Others from Marin City, however, wanted the agreement reached in New York to be made more specific as to profit-sharing and kind of development before signing.

Wornum said the agreement reached in New York was adequate. An alternate agreement drawn up by some Marin City residents using the New York agreement as a base, but becoming more specific about the development, was disregarded by the supervisors.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said he believed the alternate agreement was a change in what was agreed upon in principle by the developer and the county officials.

The board also heard charges from the audience that the Marin County Redevelopment Agency did not fairly represent people in Marin City.

Supervisor Arnold Baptiste asked that the county staff be instructed to study alternative methods of community representation on the redevelopment agency, specifically a method in use in Palo Alto, and report back to the board.

Money Figure In Book Surrenders

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mrs. Edith Irving surrendered to arrest in federal court today in connection with the Howard Hughes "autobiography" compiled by her husband. She was released on a $250,000 bond.

Attorney Maurice Nessen accompanied Clifford Irving's 36-year-old blonde wife to the courtroom of Magistrate Marvin Jacobs for the pre-arranged surrender on a futitive warrant for extradition hearings requested by the Swiss government. Mrs. Irving did not have to put up any money for the personal recognizance bond, but she would forfeit the sum if she violates the conditions of her release from custody.

Jacobs ordered the German-born Swiss citizen to remain within the jurisdiction of the Southern and Eastern federal court districts in New York and in Connecticut. Nessen, said she might want to visit his home in Connecticut with her two small sons.

Nessen asked that fingerprinting be waved, but Jacobs denied the request and ordered Mrs. Irving also to turn over her Swiss passport and other documents. He set March 8 for a preliminary hearing to determine if there is sufficient evidence to warrant Mrs. Irving's extradition.

The Swiss-born Mrs. Irving's husband, Clifford, 41, who was claimed to have interviewed Hughes more than 100 times in preparing his alleged autobiography, has said his wife was the "Helga R. Hughes" who deposited $650,000 into a numbered Swiss bank account. She then withdrew the money.

McGraw-Hill publishers had given Irving the money in the form of checks to pass on to Hughes for what the company thought was the privacy-loving billionaire's cooperation in preparing the book.

The complaint filed by the Swiss charges Mrs. Irving with counterfeiting, forgery, use of counterfeit and forged instruments, embezlement and theft. She allegedly used a forged passport to open the bank account. Most of the $650,000 has

Open Vote In Key Victory

Behr's Bill Clears Senate Committee

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SACRAMENTO — A Senate panel, weighing the people's doubts about the Legislature's credibility, today approved legislation that would open committee votes to citizen scrutiny.

In a 4-1 vote, the important Senate Rules Committee approved a measure (SCR 4) by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, that would require public recording of committee votes.

The measure now goes to the upper house floor, where its passage appeared almost certain since 23 of the Senate's 40 members have coauthored the resolution.

The legislation would break long-Standing tradition. Committee votes at present are almost always by voice, thus affording anonymity to legislators on controversial issues.

The vote followed more than an hour of debate in a committee room packed with more than 100 persons. Rules committee hearings normally attract no audience.

Behr told the committee has proposed reform is "an essential part of the democratic process. No one can deny that a person's right to vote includes his right to know how his elected representatives vote on all the issues all the time."

Sen. Clair W. Burgener, R-La Mesa, cited the Behr measure as "perhaps the most critical measure to come up in years." A 10-year veteran of the Legislature, Burgener said, "It's about time we joined the 20th Century and closed the credibility gap between the professional politician and the public."

The lone opposition came from Sen. James Q. Wedworth, D-Inglewood, who said that the resolution was based "on the premise that there's a bunch of crooks up here." The only vote against the measure on the five-member committee apparently was cast by veteran Sen. Stephen Teale, D-West Point. The exact vote, however, was uncertain since the balloting was by voice.

Support for the resolution came from 18 organizations, among them the California AFL-CIO, Sierra Club, Americans for Democratic Action, California Republican Assembly and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Passage of Behr's measure by the Senate would send it to the Assembly, where a weaker version has been proposed by Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco. Burton seeks recording of committee votes only when requested by panel members.

Records on the requested voters would be filed with the Assembly's research office, then destroyed two years after conclusion of a session. Behr's resolution would require daily publication in public journals of committee votes.

Behr estimated the annual cost of his measure at $15,000.

Nixon In 'Rest' On Trip Eve

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon, ostensibly resting on the eve of his departure for Peking, worked past midnight with close aides at Camp David in preparing for the trip.

The presidential party leaves Thursday at 7:30 a.m. PST aboard Nixon's jet "Spirit of '76" on the first leg of the journey. The President is to arrive in China Sunday night, Washington time (Monday morning in Peking).

Nixon took a helicopter from the White House Tuesday afternoon to Camp David, his mountain retreat near this tiny western Maryland community. He planned to return to his office later today.

A spokesman said Nixon worked on China planning almost from the time he arrived at Camp David. He took a break for dinner, worked until past midnight before retiring, then resumed his last minute studies at 8 o'clock this morning.

A sendoff by members of the Cabinet, Congress and government officialdom is set for Nixon an his wife before they board a helicopter on the White House lawn Thursday morning to start their 11,510-mile journey.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Zieger issued a detailed schedule for the trip to China, but provided little information about the President's plans once he arrives on the Chinese mainland.

Following the White House departure ceremony at 7 a.m. PST, the presidential party will make the short hop to Andrews AFB, Md., for departure aboard the presidential jetliner.

The next stretch of the journey will be a 10-hour flight to Hawaii, arriving at 5:30 p.m. PST at Kaneohe Marine Corps Air station on the main island of Oahu. The Nixons will spend Thursday and Friday night at the residence of Brig. Gen. Victor Armstrong, commander of the 1st Marine Brigade.

Arrigoni Will Run On Past Record

Incumbent Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., announced yesterday he will seek reelection June 6 to his second district seat.

Arrigoni, currently chairman of the board, is the third announced candidate for the seat. Barbara Boxer, a Greenbrae housewife, and Dr. William J. Filante, a Greenbrae eye specialist, also have announced intention to run.

A Fairfax resident, Arigoni served on that city's council and with the parks and recreation district prior to being elected to the county board in 1968.

Arrigoni said yesterday he will run on his past record which, he said, is strongest in the area of conservation.

"We must continue to convert our theories on conservation and ecology into effective legislation," he said. "I took the lead in the regulation of logging. This was not only the first restraint of its kind in the state, but it saved Bolinas Ridge from devastation and put a stop to the dangerous threat of runaway siltation into Bolinas Lagoon."

He listed his other successes as blocking extension of Highway 17 through Ross Valley, enactment of the county's tidal waterways ordinance — which restricts dredging and filling along the Marin coastline — and cosponsorship of the county's environemntal protection proposal which will provide the county with a full-time environmental planner.

He said he will work in the next year toward adoption of a countywide general plan and toward consolidation of sanitary districts with the Marin Municipal Water District.

The 40-year-old supervisor is employed as a stockbroker with Dean Witter and Co. in San Francisco.

He is a native of San Francisco but has lived in Marin most of his life. He lives with his wife, Patricia, and their two sons at 35 Oak Tree Lane.

He attended the College of Marin and graduated from the University of Arizona in 1957 with a degree in business administration.

LAST CHANCE FOR JOB BIAS BILL

If Senate Liberals Can't Break Southern Filibuster Next Week, Bill Will Be Tabled

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate liberals believe they can break a southern filibuster against a bill to strengthen the government's power against job discrimination.

The Senate has failed to muster the two-thirds majority required to stop the filibuster; but the liberals picked up powerful northern conservative support Tuesday when the Senate reversed itself and changed the proposed method of enforcing the antidiscrimination law.

The next vote on the filibuster will occur Feb.22.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said it would be the last chance for the bill. If cloture fails a third time Mansfield will sidetrack the bill and move the Senate on to other business.

On the first attempt to cut off debate, civil rights backers fell nine votes short of the majority, and six votes short the second time. But with the touchy issue of how the antidiscrimination laws are to be enforced settled. backers of the bill were confident they could win on the third try.

All the Senate Democratic candidates for president are for ending the filibuster, yet only Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash. showed up for any of the cloture votes, and he only once. All candidates were expected to be present for the showdown vote next Tuesday, however.

Currently, racial, religious or sexual discrimination in hiring or promotion is illegal. But the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) has no power to enforce the law.

Under the bill debated in the Senate since Congress convened a month ago the EEOC would have been given power to order discrimination halted on its own —through issuance of cease and desist edicts.

Sen. Peter H. Dominick, R-Colo., and conservative Republicans favored a substitute to give the federal courts the right of enforcement.

The Senate twice rejected court enforcement, and the Dominick supporters then joined the southerners in the filibuster.

U.S. Bombers Raid In North, Hanoi Claims

SAIGON (UPI) —Hanoi Radio reported air raids against North Vietnam by "several flights" of U.S. fighter-bombers today. The broadcast followed reports North Vietnam was sending four more divisions of troops into the South in preparation for a major offensive.

There have been widespread predictions the Communists will launch an offensive to coincide with President Nixon's visit to Peking starting Monday, and U.S. and South Vietnamese planes have flown record numbers of air strikes to try to blunt the attack.

Radio Hanoi said American planes today bombed and strafed a number of populated areas in Quang Binh Province and near Vinh Linh, just above the Demilitarized Zone. It said two American planes were shot down and "a number of U.S. pilots captured."

The U.S. command disclaimed any knowledge of the raids but it rarely reports such strikes the same day they occur.

Judge Axelrod To Step Down

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Municipal Court Judge Albert A. Axelrad announced Tuesday he would retire June 30, two days before his 71st birthday.

Axelrod spent 15 years on the judicial bench and noted he would qualify for retirement pay of 65 per cent of his annual $32,273 salary.

After retiring he will work with his son, Alan, in private law practice and will be available as a judge pro-tem.

Ibarra Ousted By Ecuador Military

QUITO, Ecuador (UPI)—The military overthrew President Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra Tuesday night for the fourth time and put him on a plane for Panama.

Military leaders accused Ibarra, 77, of exploiting the people and cancelled presidential elections scheduled for June 4.

Observers said the coup looked like a drastic measure to cancel the elections and block the possible victory of Populist presidential candidate Assad Bucaram, regarded by some military leaders as a foreign-born left-wing radical.

They accused him of being born in Lebanon and therefore not eligible to run this Colorado-sized South American nation.

Ibarra, who was Elected president the first time in 1933, was accused of not acting to block Bucaram's candidacy.

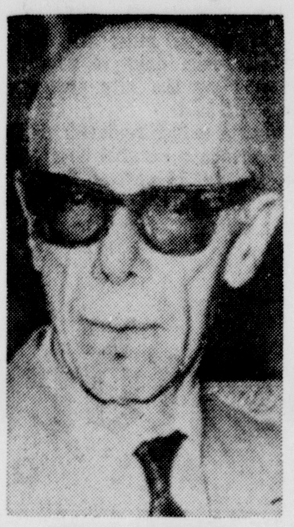
There was no violence reported during the overthrow.

The military said the nation would be run by a three-member council headed by army chief of staff Gen. Guillermo Rodriguez Lara. The other two council members of the "revolutionary government of clear, nationalist conception" were Vice Adm. Anibal Vallejo of the navy and Gen. Julio Espinosa of the air force.

The 77-year-old Ibarra was arrested in the port city of Guayaquil, 250 miles southwest of Quito, where he had gone with aides because of fears of a coup. He had been scheduled to speak over a nationwide television broadcast Tuesday, one hour after his arrival in Guayaquil.

Ibarra arrived in Panama at 2:45 a.m. EST aboard an air force DC6 and refused to answer questions saying, "I don't want to be an uncomfortable guest for the Panamanian government."



JOSE M. V. IBARRA
Overthrown again

He and his chauffeur, the only other person aboard the plane besides the crew, were met by Panamanian Foreign Minister Juan Antonio Tack and escorted to a motel in a government limousine. The plane refueled and returned to Quito.

'Combat Bonus' For State Vets Sought

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill providing California's Vietnam veterans with a state "combat bonus" was introduced Tuesday by Assemblyman Bill Greene, D-Los Acgeles.

The measure would authorize the payment of $100 for each month a veteran spent in any Southeast Asia combat zone.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Aspirin Crackdown

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Effective Aug. 15, most aspirin and aspirin products will have to be sold in "childproof" packaging.

The Food and Drug Administration ordered the step Tuesday, citing aspirin as the leading poisoner of small children.

"Although the number of accidental ingestions of aspirin has dropped significantly in recent years, aspirin is still the leading cause of poisoning of children under 5 years of age," the FDA said in a statement.

Aspirin was blamed for the deaths of 61 children in 1968, the latest year for which figures are available. There were 140 such deaths in 1963.

Tarred, Feathered

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — British troops found a youth tarred and feathered on a country road early today. The army said it was the latest in an apparent series of reprisals by the Irish Republican Army.

IRA gunmen shot and wounded five Belfast men Tuesday night in incidents that security officials said appeared to be attempted assassinations or punishments.

"It looks like the IRA held a mass kangaroo court somewhere in the city today," a police spokesman said of the shootings.

Mission Nears End

PUNTA ARENAS, Chile (UPI) — A Chilean navy transport, carrying 144 persons rescued from the grounded Norwegian cruise ship Lindblad Explorer, steamed toward this port today —the world's southernmost city — on the long-delayed voyage from an Antarctic island.

Navy headquarters said the transport Piloto Pardo would complete the 540-mile journey Friday morning.

Airliner 'Bombed'

BELGRADE (UPI) — A Belgrade newspaper said today that the crash of a Yugoslav airliner which killed 27 last month was caused by a time bomb hidden in the luggage compartment.

Borba, the Communist party newspaper, said in a special dispatch from Prague that the bomb theory was verified by a Czechoslovak commission investigating the crash.

Am American-made DC9 of the Yugoslav airlines JAT crashed over Czechoslovakia Jan. 22. The only survivor was Vesna Vulovic, a 22-year-old stewardess.

Pope's Appeal

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI led the world's Roman Catholics in observing the start of the Lenten season today with an appeal for charity toward "millions of needy, homeless and hungry children" around the world.

The Pope's appeal was contained in a television message made on behalf of the Catholic Relief Overseas Aid Fund in the U.S.

The Pope said he is especially concerned about the conditions in Indian refugee camps, which still harbor millions of former East Pakistanis.

Shutdown Near

LONDON (UPI) — Britain neared a total industrial shutdown today. Twenty million jobs were threatened with further power cuts in store for British homes and industry.

The blockade of power stations by striking coal miners bit ever harder and electricity authorities ordered power cuts for one-third of the country, with 15 per cent hit at any single time. Previously, only about 10 per cent had been affected at a time.

Record Deficit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Commerce Department reported Tuesday the U.S. balance of payments deficit improved during the last three months of 1971 but that the nation still ran up a record deficit for the year.

Commerce Department officials said the official reserve transactions balance, which measures the change in dollar holdings of foreign central banks, deteriorated by $6.1 billion between October and December. However, this was about half the level reached in the third quarter when the deficit was $12.1 billion.

The official balance was in deficit by $29.6 billion at the end of the year. This was the largest deficit ever recorded and a $19.6 billion deterioration from 1970.

Soledad Defense Seeks Trial Delay

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The defense asked for a sixweek delay in the trial of the Soledad Brothers Tuesday after the prosecution rested its case earlier than expected.

Superior Court Judge S. Lee Vavuris denied the request and said he would hear a number of defense motions Friday. Witnesses for the defense would begin testifying next Tuesday, he ruled.

The final prosecution witness was Lourn Shook, a guard at Soledad State Prison where defendants Fleeta Drumgo and John Clutchette are accused of killing guard John V. Mills in January, 1970.

Shook supported testimony given by another guard earlier in which he said Drumgo threatened to kill another guard.

Four Picked Up On Marijuana Offense

Four youths — enjoying yesterday's spring-like weather, a San Rafael hillside and a little pot — got a rude awakening when police dropped in on their gathering.

Three of the youths were booked into Marin County Jail, the fourth into Marin Juvenile Hall.

Diane Grace Gardiner, 19, of 215 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, and Robert Francis Brennan, 20, no known address, were booked on suspicion of possessing marijuana, being in a place where it is used and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

An 18-year-old Larkspur boy was booked on suspicion of a misdemeanor, being in a place where marijuana was used and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The three were released from the jail on their own recognizance to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow.

A 17-year-old Greenbrae girl was booked into juvenile hall on misdemeanor suspicion of being in a place where pot was used.

San Rafael police said they found the foursome at about 4:40 p.m. yesterday sitting outside a shack in a wooded hills above San Pablo Road.

When police arrived, Brennan tossed away a corn cob pipe containing what is believed to be marijuana, officers said.

A plastic bag containing more of the green vegetable matter and another corn cob pipe were found in Miss Gardiner's purse, police said.

Middle-Income Insurance Proposal By Gov. Reagan

the private insurance companies, who would provide the services.

Two Blue Shield executives—president Thomas C. Paton and board chairman Dr. Carl E. Anderson—pledged their "complete cooperation to the governor in working to come up with some kind of acceptable plan."

In his message directed especially to the middle class, Reagan said "we are talking about the kind of cases that average as much as $25,000 a year in medical expenses and bring financial ruin to the family."

"Those who are the least affluent among us already enjoy this kind of protection in the form of virtually unlimited health care benefits under Medi-Cal," he said. "Obviously the most affluent in our society are able to take care of themselves.

"But you—the people who work day after day to support your family and provide average health care—could be wiped out should a devastating illness strike."

Reagan said most basic insurance plans now provide less than $8,000 in benefits and the majority of major medical policies do not cover expenses above $40,000.

This results in the patient paying 60 per cent of medical expenses and the insurance company contributing 40 per cent, the governor said. The goal of his plan is to reverse this, with the patient paying 35 per cent and the insurance company 65 per cent.

Virtually all medical costs above the basic policy coverage —or $8,000 if there was no state-approved private plan— would be paid for by the governor's program.

For a basic plan to be state-approved, it would have to contain such annual benefits as 100 days of inpatient hospital care, 30 days of extended care facility services and $3,000 in outpatient services.

A senior citizen covered by Medicare, if he carried both hospitalization and medical services, would be eligible for the catastrophic insurance once his government benefits ran out.

Up to $300 in premium costs for state-approved basic plans could be deducted on state income tax returns. Now $150 can be deducated. The Reagan administration estimated the average monthly cost of health insurance for a family of four is $21.

Campbell, who introduced a catastrophic insurance bill last year but did not seriously push it, contended chances of passing Reagan's proposal are "very good." He noted it would benefit the middle class and added this could be Politically advantageous during an election year.

But Moscone maintained the Reagan plan would "encourage doctors and hospitals to boost the cost of health care to reach the $8,000 figure."

Jack Carney To Court In Child Fuss

Jack Carney, former Bay Area radio and television personality who once served on the Ross Town Council, has been ordered to appear in Marin Superior Court Feb. 25 to show cause why he should not be prevented from taking his young son to Missouri.

An order has been signed by Judge Henry J. Broderick in connection with a suit filed last week by Carney's wife, Lois, who is seeking a legal separation.

Mrs. Carney, a kidney disease victim, said she feared her husband might take their only child, John F. Carney III, 8, to live with him in St. Louis, where Carney now has a $72,000-a-year disc jockey job.

Mrs. Carney, 39, also is asking the court to restrain Carney from selling or concealing community property.

In her petition, Mrs. Carney said the couple was married in 1962 in Reno and separated Jan. 31.

She has asked $2,500-a-month support for herself, saying she needed $1,000 a month for a dialysis machine. She also asked $335-a-month support for the child.

The Carneys formerly lived in Ross, where Carney, 39, was elected to the town council in 1968 after a contested election — a rarity for the town. He served only about a year, however, resigning because of the press of his radio and television business.

For many years he was a disc jockey for radio station KSFO in San Francisco.

Antipollution Initiative Denounced

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The technical advisory committee of the California Air Resources Board announced its opposition today to the proposed Clean Environment Act, often called the "People's Lobby" initiative.

"This measure will not further air pollution control and will probably hinder it," said Committee Chairman R. Robert Brattain, a chemicl physicist retired from Shell Development Corporation.

The initiative, a sweeping measure dealing with all phases of air pollution, was put on the June ballot by petition of the voters.

Brattain said the committee opposed it because it would freeze into the law technical details which soon would be obsolete.

"Experience has convinced us that the technical details would have changed by the time the law went into effect," he said.

"They would have changed once more by the time the law could be changed to take account Of the first change in the technical facts."

The Air Resources Board accepted the report and planned a discussion of the initiative measure at its March meeting.

The proposed act would give industry five years and automakers two years to virtually eliminate air, water and land pollution.

It includes criminal penalties for violators and would prohibit the sale or operation of motor vehicles failing to meet strict technical regulations.

Its backers, a group called "People's Lobby, Inc.," headquartered in Hollywood, collected the more than 300,000 registered voters signatures to put it on the ballot despite the opposition of several groups normally on the forefront of the militant ecological movement.

Groups such as the Sierra Club and the Marin Conservation League said they could not back it because its sweeping rewriting of the conservation laws would repeal many essential existing features and actually weaken the state's enforcement powers.

Backers of the initiative called the opponents the "Benedict Arnolds" of the conservation field and said such stringent legislation was needed because of the critical nature of the problem.

Fired Marin Teacher Is Reinstated

A fired Sausalito school district teacher won his 10-month fight for reinstatement yesterday when a Marin Superior Court judge granted his appeal of the dismissal.

Judge Thomas H. Keating ordered the school district to reinstate eighth-grade science teacher James E. Pockrus, fired last May by the district board on charges of incompetence and unfitness for service, according to the teacher's attorney A. Leonard Bjorklund of Sausalito.

Keating could not be reached for comment on his ruling.

The decision came after five days of court hearings on the charges.

Since September, while his appeal was pending, Pockrus, former president of the Sausalito District Teachers Association, worked on special assignment for the district.

He is the second of three tenured teachers fired last May to be reinstated.

Last week the newly-constituted school board reversed the former board's firing of James T. Toliver Jr. and set aside the charges against him.

No hearing date has been set for the appeal of sixth-grade teacher Clifford Munger, also dismissed last year.

plause-punctuated hearing. They included Arthur Sestak and his wife, Joan, who is a city council candidate; Charles Brousse, Larkspur Town Meeting chairman; Harold E. Gregg, Marin Conservation League president; Barbara Boxer of Greenbrae; Warren Fadden, Madrone Woodlands Homeowners Association president, and Roger E. Roberts of 39 Bridge Road.

The opponents urged freezing any development of the Tiscornia estate to protect efforts to establish the North Ridge as open space. They also warned that flattening the mountaintop would result in high density housing, and urged no action pending completion of the 12,500 Larkspur zoning revision study now in progress by consultant Sidney Williams. Previous moratorium calls by the Larkspur planning conference last month and the city council on Feb. 2 and the 1969 veto of development on Little King Mountain also were stressed.

Williams suggested that the grading probably would not worsen conditions on the already-scarred hilltop, but said anything leading to development in the property would jeopardize the moratorium he wanted on all ridgelands development in Larkspur pending completion of his zoning study. He added that the marshlands character of the lower Tiscornia property had also long ago been destroyed, so further filling would do no more harm.

The city planning staff recommended approval of grading the top of Little King Mountain and the ridge to the east, but opposed filling a ravine to the west or grading sites for townhouse development on Big King Mountain, also in the Tiscornia property. Planning Director John W. Appleton also suggested a timetable for amending the "S" interim zoning to take ain not only newly annexed property but any existing Larkspur lands to permit study of their role in general plan revision.

Commissioner Robert H. Lee moved denial of the grading permit, seconded by Commissioner Leonard S. Rubin.

Bathurst said it probably would be April 22 before formalities of amending the study zone could be completed and a hearing jeld on rezoning the Tiscornia lands.

The purpose of an extradition hearing is to determine whether she is the person named in the complaint and whether there is probable cause to believe the crimes specified were committed.

Swiss law calls for a maximum penalty of five years in jail for each of the crimes cited in the complaint.

In another development Tuesday, two blonde former girl friends of Irving's, folk-singing Danish Baroness Nina Van Pallandt and scuba diving instructress Ann Baxter, appeared before federal and New York grand juries investigating the circumstances under which the book was prepared.

Larkspur Ferry Site Taken Over

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Golden Gate Bridge District officials broke ground yesterday at the district's ferry terminal site in Larkspur, acting as proud as if there were a ferry to break a champagne bottle against and more than just a muddy Chunk of land.

The occasion, attended by almost 100 invited city and county officials and representatives of citizen groups, commemorated transfer of title to the 25-acre triangular site to the district. The district, in turn, handed over a $1.2 million check to T. I. Properties Inc., owner of the parcel just east of Highway 101 and south of Hutchinson's Quarry on East Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

The District also had paid $50,000 for its option on the land at the mouth of the Corte Madera Creek.

Construction of the terminal is expected to start late this spring, although plans still have not been completed. The terminal, to be served by three ferries, is not scheduled to open until early 1974.

The first "landing" was staged yesterday from a Coast Guard crash boat by Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, who praised the district in a brief speech for its entry into the transit businesS. An ancient wooden float was rented for the occasion and towed in from Sausalito for the ceremony.

Total cost of the ferry system is estimated at $18.9 million. A two-thirds matching grant is being sought from the federal government.

Larkspur Mayor Earl J. O'Grady cited district predictions that 4,000 commuters will use the terminal each weekday. He noted that the terminal someday also could serve a rapid transit system using the existing railroad right-of-way adjacent to the site.

Construction of the terminal also could hasten residential and commercial development of the quarry,9O'Grady said.

The officials then went to a luncheon hosted by the district at the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito.

The district's special counsel, Richard J. Smart, reported at the luncheon that the federal government had ssued a "letter of no prejudice" so the district could go ahead and buy 20 more new buses. The letter means the government — if it approves a grant For the buses — will reimburse the district for two-thirds of their $960,000 cost.

The district already has won a $6.3 million federal grant to cover two-thirds of the cost of its bus system. The 20 new buses would bring the district fleet to 174 coaches.

The three hours of ceremony and speeches concluded with the gift of a 10-inch brass bell to William Wachter, owner of the Alta Mira, on condition that he ring it upon every arrival of the district's Sausalito ferry.

Public Views Sought On Sausalito Building

Sausalito residents should have a chance to voice views on a proposed moratorium on subdivisions and residential planned-unit developments before action is taken, the Sausalito City Council agreed last night.

A public hearing on the matter was set for 8 p.m. March 8 in city hall.

The council set the session after learning from its city attorney that holding a hearing would allow the city to extend the freeze up to one year. Unless a hearing is held, a Moratorium can be enacted for no more than 90 days.

Also to be considered at the special meeting will be a proposal by Councilman Stephen A. Fraser that the freeze include commercial planned unit developments.

The temporary ban was recommended last month by the city planning commission to give officials time to prepare an open space plan for Sausalito, as well as revised regulations for subdivisions and lot splits.

Persons wishing to proceed with planned unit developments during the ban period can seek a variance if they can prove their land will not be affected by the open space plan or regulations.

In a report to the council last night, planning director H. Eric Borgwardt estimated that the plan and revised regulations could be completed and approved by necessary city agencies by early November.

The Sausalito City Council also:

REVIEW BOARD — Approved first reading of an ordinance to expand the scope of SAusalito's community appearances advisory board. The regulation would give the board power to review plans for all single-family homes, exterior remodeling of duplexes and other multiple residence units and local public enhancement and improvement projects.

PARK PATH — Agreed to open the sidewalk through Vina Del Mar Park. The walk has been closed for more than two years.

STAFFING — Instructed the city manager to meet with the council's finance committee as vacancies in the city staff occur to determine if the jobs should be filled.

TRANSPORTATION — Asked City Atty. Leland H. Jordan to prepare an ordinance to establish a transportation zoning district in the city. The proposed zone would be used for public purposes such as shuttle service lines, pedestrian walks and bike paths.

APPEAL — Referred back to planners a citizens' appeal of a planning commission approval of a lot split for land at the intersection of Central Avenue and Cable Roadway. Twenty-nine residents in the area have protested the split, saying the newly-created lot would create traffic hazards on the narrow, winding street. The planners were asked to suggest how such hazards could be minimized or eliminated.

ORDINANCE — Asked the city attorney to prepare an ordinance establishing a commercial-residential zone for the Caledonia Street area.

CLAIM — Rejected and referred to its insurance carrier a $3,500 damage suit by Irene B. Quella of Larkspur, who claims she was injured in a fall on a city sidewalk last November.

Fairfax Trustees Sidestep Bus Issue

The Fairfax School District board last night declined to take a position in the controversy surrounding a new state law which its foes say will force busing to achieve racial integration in schools.

The author of the law, Assemblyman William T. Bagley of San Rafael, maintains it is aimed at preventing court-ordered busing by Giving local school districts the opportunity to draft integration plans with alternative solutions to busing.

The Fairfax board last night considered a letter from Assemblyman Floyd Wakefield, R-South Gate, who is pushing an initiative campaign to have the law, which goes into effect March 4, repealed.

Wakefield has charged the law will "require massive forced busing of students to achieve racial integration throughout the state."

Fairfax Supt. H. Reginald Hammond said the school board was asked last night by persons attending the board meeting if it wanted to take a position on the law. The board chose not to, Hammond said, but indicated it would review it again at its next meeting, March 7.

The Fairfax School District Board Also:

CRICKET — In answer to a request from James Vivian, president of the Northern California Cricket Club, said the field at White Hill School was primarily for community use, but directed Hammond to meet with representatives of Fairfax Little League and the city's parks and recreation commission to determine if some schedule could be worked out for the cricket club to use the field.

STORAGE — Received a report from Stanley Butcher, director of buildings and grounds, on the need for small storage areas at each of the district's schools, and said it would consider the report during budget sessions.

CHARGES — Met in closed session for about 90 minutes to consider charges against an employee, but took no action.

EMPLOYEES — Approved hiring Ruth Hamlin as an administrative secretary at $510 a month and Betty Tovatt as a junior secretary at $450 a month.

A Youth Voter Rally Is Backed

The Marin County Youth Commission has tentatively agreed to cosponsor a voter registration rally for 18-to-21-year-olds on April 8 at Pepperland in San Rafael.

According to L. Charles Smith, county youth coordinator, the all-day rally will include political speakers and will be timed to qualify young voters for the June primary.

He said the commission allocated $50 Monday to the event, pending approval from the county counsel's office on expenditure or county funds for voter registration.

In other action, the commission approved a $450 grant to operation Give a Damn in Marin City which is similar to the Big Brother program.

It also approved hiring Jay Rock, a San Francisco theological seminary student, as a part-time youth worker at $3 per hour.

Variance Is Denied On Two Illegal Structures

A Mill Valley man was denied a variance last night by the Mill Valley Planning Commission, a variance which would have permitted him to finish building an illegal garage and residence.

The commission recommended, however, that Federico A. (Marty) Martinez be reimbursed by the city for work already done at 10 Manor Terrace, because he had begun work on the strength of permits issued by the city.

Neighbors, objecting to traffic created by the Martinez project, discovered after 10 months of work had gone into construction that the permits were issued in error because it is illegal to expand or replace a building with nonconforming use, as was the case here. They secured a stop-work order from the city last April.

Ivan S. Poutiatine, John DeBecker and Richard Jessup voted against the variance, with William Devlin and Paul Rosenthal favoring it. Robert E. Burton abstained and William A. Lewis was absent. On the second vote, only Devlin dissented.

The commission on Monday also endorsed the first phase of a renovation program for Miller Avenue at La Goma Street and asked the city council to form a parking assessment district to finance off-street parking.

The council last week rejected plans for the project and sent them back to the planning commission with a request that the panel look for parking to replace the 53 spaces being lost due to the Road work.

The commission said an assessment district first should look into buying a vacant lot next to Brown's Hall, which has room for 32 spaces, and then investigate other nearby sites for parking.

Elected chairman of the commission for 1972 was Ivan S. Poutiatine, while William A. Lewis was named vice chairman.

PG&E Ordered To Make Refund

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The State Public Utilities Commission ordered Pacific Gas & Electric Co. on Tuesday to refund $5.35 million to its gas customers.

PG&E had passed on to its customers between Aug. 1, 1970, and March 30, 1971, an increase in rates charged by its major supplier, the El Paso Natural Gas Co.

The increase to El Paso was rescinded and the money returned to PG&E which was ordered to pass it on to its customers.

The refund will come to about 90 cents on the average domestc user's bill and will be deducted from next month's bills. Included is seven per cent interest.

Two Types Of Shots Needed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The state Board of Public Health Tuesday adopted regulations requiring all California school children to be immunized against diphtheria and tetanus.

The rules go into effect March 1.

Students already enrolled will not be required to take the shots until the new school year starts in September. Immunization shots against diphtheria and tetanus will be mandatory for children entering nursery schools and day care centers as well as elementary and secondary schools.

Volkswagen Van Is Reported Stolen

A white and green 1966 Volkswagen van, with license plates TKA408, was stolen today from near the corner of Kerner Boulevard and Canal Street, San Rafael police reported.

Police said the van, owned by John P. Emerson of 1100 Olive Street, Novato, was stolen between 2730 and 3 a.m.

NOTICE

The Marin County Veterinary Medical Association wishes to announce that member hospitals will be closed Feb. 19 through 21 - in observance of Washington's Birthday Holiday.
Emergency service will be available on a 24 hr. basis.

New Lease On Life To Two Depots

New life was pumped into two local bus depots yesterday as the Marin County Transit District agreed to subsidize operations up to $125 per month each for six months.

The subsidy, sought by depot agents who suffered loss of revenue when the Golden Gate Bridge District took over commuter bus service form Greyhound Bus Lines, was approved on condition that equal amounts are allocated by the cities of Mill Valley and San Anselmo.

The San Anselmo City Council already has agreed to subsidize its depot to a total of $450 (or four and a half months), while Mill Valley has indicated a willingness to help but so far has not appropriated funds.

The board said the same offer would apply to depots in Fairfax and Novato if the city councils agree. The Novato City Council has indicated it won't and the Fairfax council is continuing to study the matter.

The depot in San Rafael, meanwhile, was ruled out by board members who said the depot still serves as Marin County headquarters for Greyhound's long-haul operations.

Free Day Of Swimming Set

According to general manager Helen Lontz, the district will treat approximately 60 children to a day of swimming on Aug. 30.

"Many of these children have not even been across the Golden Gate Bridge nor have they ever been in a pool," she said.

Commissioner Vernon H. Nicholson resigned as facilities commissioner because of his health. He will continue to serve on the board, but felt that the added duties were too much for him, she said. The resignation was accepted immediately, she said. A new facilities commissioner will probably be selected at the board's March 21 meeting, she said.

Taxes From Bus Fleet Still In Air

The Marin County Transit District board was told yesterday that it may not be the sole heir to $55,000 in "use tax" revenues expected from the Golden Gate Bridge District's bus fleet purchase.

The funds, allocated by the state to local governments in lieu of sales tax revenues when vehicles are purchased out of state, had been slated by the board for construction of bus shelters.

However, County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell told the board that Marin's 11 cities may also be heirs to the windfall since state policy indicates that "use tax" funds are handed out based on percentage of retail sales.

Thus, the county which averages 11 per cent of total sales may only get $6,241 of the $55,000. San Rafael, meanwhile, which averages 44 per cent may get the lion's share of $24,130, Mitchell said.

Estimates of the "use tax" allocations to other communities are: Belvedere, $149; Corte Madera, $5,139; Fairfax, $974; Larkspur, $1,578; Mill Valley, $3,173; Novato, $5,538; Ross, $110; San Anselmo, $2,403; Sausalito, $4,475, and Tiburon, $1,467.

Mitchell said he will continue to investigate the matter since officials had first indicated the county would get the total.

Board members, meanwhile, said that if the funds are allocated to the cities they hoped the communities would use them for bus shelters.

Council Hopefuls' Disparate Goals

Speaking before the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce, Byron D. White said he will continue to work for adequate but economical government. "I can honestly say that business experience has been invaluable in giving Corte Madera the soundest, most economical government," the retired purchasing executive said.

His colleague, Robert P. Simmons, after listing gains during his four years in office, said long-range planning is his goal "so that when the rest of the town develops, we can do it with prethought."

The three challengers, Herber C. Leney, Robert Flahive and I. Thomas Zaragoza, have been invited to speak at the chamber's March breakfast meeting.

Simmons, a certified public accountant, called for a bayfront park and White said it is time to start planning a bayfront parkway.

Both called for reviewing the town's general plan.

The only reference to the town's hottest issue, fire protection, was a statement by White that police and fire protection had been "beefed up" in the past four years.

However, David I. Freed, a planning commissioner and unsuccessful council candidate in 1970, questioned whether keeping the tax rate low at the expense of fire protection and recreation isn't "maybe penny wise and pound foolish."

White said it isn't the council's policy to skimp, but when the fire chief didn't ask for more men at the last budget session "we naturally had to assume that things were all right."

Simmons — skirting the fire problem that surfaced when three houses were swept by fire in east Corte Madera last September — said he favors expanding the town recreation program.

McGovern's Views On Legalizing Pot

By U.P.INTERNATIONAL

Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota suggested today legalizing marijuana, with the same controls imposed on alcohol.

Speaking at a drug counseling center in Boston, the Democratic presidential candidate said:

"Continuing investigations on the overall effects of marijuana leave unsettled the related but separate questions whether society can or should attempt to completely prohibit its use.

"The most relevant historical precedent —prohibition of alcohol —produced an obvious, abject failure."

McGovern added, "That experience ... suggests that a more promising route might be to regulate marijuana along the same lines as alcohol, while continuing and expanding educational programs aimed at discouraging its use."

On the campaign trail in Florida, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said in Tallahassee that he felt it was "racist" to claim a black child had to sit alongside a white child to get a quality education.

Jackson reaffirmed his opposition to busing to achieve racial balance in schools.

Spiro T. Agnew said today that if he believes his presence on the ticket will hurt President Nixon's re-election chances, he will not seek another term as vice president.

Agnew said he wanted to see political polls and assess the situation before he decides.

"If I decide for myself that in my best political judgment I will hamper the ticket, I will get out .." Agnew said.

But, Agnew, added he had "no intention of makinG such a decision yet."

He made his comments in a taped interview scheduled for broadcast on the NBC-TV "Today" program.

In other political developments:

The Senate Democratic Policy Committee unanimously voted to ask public censure of Nixon's aide, H.R. Haldeman, who has said that some critics of Nixon's Indochina peace moves were "consciously aiding and abetting the enemy."

—Republican Rep. John N. Ashbrook of Ohio, who has mounted a conservative challenge to Nixon, said he was encouraged by the response he had received in New Hampshire and would enter about 10 primaries.

New York's conservative Sen. James Buckley said the administration had failed to live up to its conservative promises on several issues, but he pledged his support to Nixon anyway.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said at Miami Beach that he believed busing was "the least desirable way" of bringing equality to education but that "in particular situations it can be useful in indicating our commitment to that objective."

Policeman Assaulted, Man Held

Danny Ray Harris was held at Marin County Jail in lieu of $2,500 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Corte Madera police said they were called to Don Fugate's Chevron service at 706 Tamalpais Drive about 9 p.m. and arrived to find two California Highway Patrolmen watching a fight between Harris and Grinner Bankle, 18, also of Richmond.

Harris hit Bankle several times, officers said, then walked over to Corte Madera officer Don R. Baxley, 25, and said he wanted to fight him, then slugged Baxley on the chin, police said.

When told he was under arrest, officers said Harris resisted. He then was thrown across the hood of a patrol car in order to subdue him, the officers said.

Meeting On Creek Ruling Canceled

An adjourned meeting tomorrow of the Ross Town Council to discuss remifications of a court ruling in connection with the Corte Madera Creek flood control project has been canceled.

Mayor Frederick S. Allen said the meeting was called off because it is not expected the council will have the formal court decision by that time.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court ruled early last week the town must either call a referendum or rescind approval of the final section of the creek project through Ross.

Allen said the council would discuss the issue at its next regular meeting March 9, unless a need for a special session arises.

Bill Would Require Watch On The PUC

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Sen. James Q. Wedworth, D-Hawthorne, has introduced legislation requiring the auditor general to examine the public utilities commission annually and report to the legislature.

Wedworth said his resolution introduced Tuesday would establish a "watchdog" to help lawmakers oversee the actions of the commission.

Day Care Panel To Be Enlarged

The Marin County Family and Children's Advisory Committee last night agreed to expand its day care subcommittee from six members to 12.

Donna Huckins, county adviser to the group, said today letters will be sent to various groups and agencies involved in day care asking for nominations to the subcommittee.

The expanded subcommittee will be responsible for planning and coordinating day care activities in Marin. It was named last month by the board of supervisors as the official county agency dealing with day care proposals.

The main committee is a citizens' advisory council to the Department of Public Social Services.

Marin Firm Dealings Halted By Injunction

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — A federal judge has issued an injunction halting all dealings of the United Financial Group, Inc., an overseas investment combine with main offices in Novato.

Chief U.S. District Court Judge Robert C. Belloni Tuesday appointed a receiver for the remaining assets of the firm, formerly known as USI Group, Inc.

Belloni said there was little or no precedent for a federal court to take jurisdiction in cases involving an offshore investment company.

But, the judge said, the company's "day-to-day decisions are made here in this country, most capital investment invgved is in the United States," and many of the firm's other activities are conducted domestically.

Belloni said there was probable cause to believe that the firm took advantage of legal loopholes to defraud American and foreign investors in securities transactions in the U.S.

The injunction stemmed from a complaint filed Jan. 17 by the Securities and Exchange Commission charging UFG, several subsidiary organizations and company officers with fraud and deceit in the sale of stocks and other securities. The SEC asked for an immediate temporary restraining order.

UFG, headquartered in Portland until moving to Marin in 1969, opposed the order on grounds offshore investment firms are not under federal court jurisdiction.

Belloni ruled the federal court does have jurisdiction, but he delayed effective date of the injunction 15 days to allow the defendants to file an appeal.

The judge said liquid assts of the company, said once to have had stockholdings near $100 million, are exhausted, and appointed Portland attorney William Tassock as receiver.

Belloni said the company's securities portfolio is empty, creditors' claims cannot be met and books and accounts are in disarray.

Attempts by the Independent-Journal to reach principals of the company, including president and director Robert W. Pollock of Black Point, were unsuccessful. Four other Marin residents have been listed by the SEC as officials of the firm — Robert J. Walker of Sausalito, Jose Gutierrez of San Rafael and Barry D. J. Snider and Myer Avedovech, both of Novato.

Production of nylon in the United States tripled in the 1960s, from 400 million pounds in 1960 to 1.3 billion pounds in 1970.

Jail Time On Embezzlement

The former manager of a San Rafael finance company office has been placed on probation for three years and sent to jail for 30 days by Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court.

William D. Kreger of San Rafael had earlier admitted a charge of grand theft stemming from his embezzling more than $2,600 from the Public Finance Co. office in San Rafael.

Kreger had been accused by his employers of making three loans to a nonexistent person last November. When confronted, Kreger explained he needed the money to clear up bills he owed so he would have a good credit rating to buy a house.

Judge Gardiner also ordered him to make restitution.

Lowry Gets Informal Hub School Release

The San Anselmo School District board last night informally approved Supt. W. Kenneth Lowry's request for a release from his contract.

But the board ran into trouble trying to decide when the release would be effective and how to replace Lowry.

Lowry has been offered a position as assistant superintendent for instruction with the Redwood City Elementary Schools District. His contract with San Anselmo expires in August.

After more than three hours of discussion — some of it in closed session — on how to replace Lowry, the board last night set a special meeting for 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday at Red Hill School for further discussion of it, according to Valerie Rogers, district secretary.

The Redwood City district has indicated it wants Lowry March 1. Franklin C. Latcham, president of the San Anselmo board, said last night he would talk to Kenneth Hill, personnel director of Redwood City, about settling on a later date for Lowry's job move.

Mrs. Rogers said the board considered three proposals for replacing Lowry, but failed to make a decision.

Lowry and the district's administrative council (principals of the district's seven schools) have recommended that Walter C. Dolan, principal at Sleepy Hollow School, be named acting superintendent for the rest of this school year and that a new superintendent be hired for the beginning of the 1972-73 school year.

Board member Basil H. Scalabrini proposed, however, that no new superintendent be named and that the superintendent's duties be carried on by a council of principals and teachers.

Scalabrini is to discuss his proposal with teacher and principal representatives for their reactions to it prior to next Tuesday's special meeting.

The third proposal for filling Lowry's job is to hire a new superintendent now, and Latcham plans to consult this week with the Marin County Schools office possible candidates for the position.

In discussing the situation last night, Mrs. Rogers reported, the board went into closed session with Dolan for 80 minutes, but took no action.

The San Anselmo School District Board Also:

HORSES — Approved an agreement with the Horsemen's Association of Sleepy Hollow to allow the association to use a small portion of the Hidden Valley School site for equestrian activities.

INTEGRATION — Continued until March 7 consideration of a request from Assemblyman Floyd Wakefield, R-South Gate, for support of his initiative campaign to repeal a school integration law, authored by Assemblyman William T. Bagley of San Rafael, which Wakefield claims will require "massive forced busing" of students to achieve racial integration in schools.

LEGISLATION — Opposed enactment of any state law setting requirements for school districts without state financial support. The move followed discussion of a proposed state law requiring school districts to set standards and procedures for evaluating teachers.

New College Plan Backed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Presidents of six colleges have approved the San Francisco Consortium, a plan to permit cross registration of students, it was announced Tuesday.

Still needed is approval of directors of the six colleges and universities in the San Francisco Bay Area.

Under the plan, students would register at one school as usual but be permitted to take some of their courses at other campuses.

The six are City College of San Francisco, the University of California Medical Center, Hastings College of the Law, Long Mountain College, San Francisco State College and the University of San Francisco.

Legislation Would Aid Soldier-Students

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill introduced Tuesday by Sen. Gordon Cologne, R-Indio, would allow servicemen stationed in California to attend state colleges or the University of California for payment of the same tuition and fees charged residents.

University application of the measure would be contingent on its approval by UC Regents.

89 Apartments Will Be Built

Plans for an 89-unit complex were approved yesterday by the Petaluma Board of Zoning Adjustments.

C and S Enterprises of San Rafael received approval of the site design for the apartments to be built at 833 Petaluma Boulevard North.

In other action, the board approved plans by Victor Nagle for an industrial building at 1601 Lakeville Street.

Boas Campaign Formally Opens

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Supervisor Roger Boas formally opened his bid yesterday for the Democratic nomination in the June 6 primary for the Sixth Congressional District seat.

Boas, who had announced his intention last summer to unseat the incumbent congressman, Republican William S. Mailliard, filed sponsors' papers and paid a $425 filing fee in the San Francisco elections office.

Marin City Substation Site Will Be Guarded

Marin County supervisors reacted sharply yesterday to a rumor that arson was planned against the new Marin City firehouse and sheriff's substation now under construction.

The board ordered the trailer that houses the temporary sheriff's substation moved to the construction site on Drake Avenue, to protect the new building until it is completed.

However, investigation of County Fire Chief Richard D. Pedroli's written report that "a group of people" plan to torch the new building as soon as its roof is put on, has not turned up any definite information, sheriff's Lt. Robert Gaddini of the Marin City substation said today.

Gaddini reported that Inspector Bowen Bridges and another investigator had found only that Marin City firemen had heard from community residents that the trouble might be brewing.

Frank Phillips Sr., member of the Marin City Community Services District board, declared "I'm sure it's probably just a rumor." He said he would bring the subject up at tomorrow's services district board meeting.

The combined fire station and substation is "beneficial to the community," Phillips stressed. He said the service district hopes eventually to take the building over to provide locally-controlled police and fire protection to the community, "when we get a tax base to support it."

Supervisor John F.McInnis warned yesterday that if the new building were burned, he would vote to move the station out of Marin City.

"The (Marin City) community had better bring full pressure to bear on the trouble makers," McInnis said. Other supervisors agreed, except for Michael Wornum who argued it would be unfair to blae the entire community if the threats of a few persons came true.

The sheriff's substation has been housed in a trailer since May 1967. The deputies' earlier office was destroyed by arson in 1965. The substation was moved to Tamalpais Valley until Marin City residents persuaded the supervisors to return it to their community two years later, citing a wave of burglaries.

In ordering relocating the trailer to the construction site, the supervisory yesterday turned down County Administrator John F. Barrows's recommendation to hire a watchman nights and weekends at the building site.

Felony Assault Hearing Set

A preliminary hearing has been set for March 7 for two Oakland residents accused of felony assault upon two Novato women in October 1970.

Charlisse Joy Brant, 21, and Donald Duane Smith, 32, entered innocent pleas to the charge yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

They are accused of beating and threatening to kill the two women in connection with a narcotics debt, according to an affidavit signed by Novato police.

They were arrested in January on a warrant issued some time ago.

Boy, 6, Treated For Injuries

A 6-year-old San Rafael boy was treated yesterday at Marin General Hospital for a nose bleed and multiple bruises suffered when he was struck by a car in San Rafael.

Police said Sean M. Tallarico of 1119 Irwin Street ran into the path of a car driven by Marvin Glass, 36, of 7 Poplar Avenue, Ross.

The accident occurred at 8:10 a.m. at the intersection of Irwin Street and Mission Avenue.

TWO-MONTH TOURS

Plastic Surgeons Will Join Mercy Ship Hope In Brazil

By LARRY MOWELL

Inspired by helping Vietnamese children last year, two Marin plastic surgeons have enlisted for two-month tours of duty aboard the mercy ship Hope in Brazil.

Dr. Robert L. Mills, 50, of Ross, and his wife will leave in a couple of weeks. His partner, Dr. Richard L. Zakin, 42, of Kentfield, will join the seagoing hospital with his wife and three children during the summer.

While one physician keeps up the pair's Marin practice, the other will be in the northeastern Brazilian port of Natal instructing local physicians and trying to repair the physical signs of povety.

From their Greenbrae offices, the two doctors explained that working in a plastic surgery hospital in Saigon last year had convinced them to make another unpaid, humanitarian trip.

Mills said he had signed up to work in Saigon under the auspices of Children's Medical Relief International because of damage he blamed on the American war effort. He saw a broader need, however.

"Having been there, it really opens up your consciousness to what medical needs really are in the world," he said.

Dakin added, "We were both so tremendously impressed by the horrible problems these kids had. It is terribly exciting to go someplace where one is really needed."

In Saigon, much of the work was with children maimed by bombs, scorched by napalm and burned by white phosphorous grenades — problems that won't exist in Brazil.

They expect to treat a huge backlog of birth defects like cleft lips, and neglected burns, leprosy and a form of gangrene that eats away the faces of undernourished children — all rarities in a community with good health care like Marin.

It is the seriousness of the work that intrigues the physicians. "Every case is a major challenge to all your capabilities," Mills said. "One can't say that about ordinary practice."

Zakin echoed the sentiment. "For the first time I had the feeling that this was what plastic surgery should be," he said of his Saigon experience.

He and Mills said it is a relief to escape the paperowrk and other minor harassments of Marin practice.

Dakin is taking his wife, Elizabeth, and three teen-age daughters to Brazil in the hope they can do something constructive, but what they will do is unknown.

Mrs. Zakin is one of the organizers of a local fund-raising hike set for Feb. 27 that will turn over half the proceeds to Project Hope.

Hope is the principal activity of the People-to-People Health Foundation of Washington, D.C. The refitted Navy hospital ship has provided medical care and instruction to developing countries since 1960.

Dakin and Mills are the most recent in a string of Marin physicians doing charitable work in poor countries. They knew of several Marin doctors who had previously worked on the Hope ship and others who worked in clinics in Taiwan and Africa.

"I think this county is very well represented in this kind of activity," Dakin said.

Hub Candidates To Talk Tonight

A candidates' night for San Anselmo City Council hopefuls will be held at 8 p.m. today at the Robson House at 237 Crescent Road, sponosred by the San Anselmo Homes Association.

The session will be informal with the eight candidates for two council seats on the April 11 ballot mingling with the audience, according to Paul Brand, association president.

The candidates are James F. Reed and Kenneth L. Anderson, incumbents, and Pieter Toal, Sarah H. Nome, Judy Emis, Jack Burr II, Martin Blinder and Richard A. Raznikov.

Another candidates night has been scheduled for 8 p.m. March 22 in the Sir Francis Drake High School Little Theater, sponsored by the League of Women Voters.

KTIM Panel Will Discuss Marist Property

The proposed division and uses of the Marist Fathers property at 1675 Grand Avenue, San Rafael, will be discussed at 9 a.m. tomorrow on KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board."

Proposed plans for the property call for a ballet school, private tennis club, church and a lodge hall.

Guest panelists include: Anthony Costello, real estate dealer representing the Marist Fathers; James Duggan, member of the San Rafael Planning Commission; Mrs. Max Thelan Jr., representing the Marin Ballet Association; Richard Osterman, member of the Juvenile Delinquency Prevention Commission, and Richard F. W. Sadler, past president of the Black Canyon Home Owners Association.

Questions telephoned in to Kitty Oppenheimer during the live broadcast tomorrow will be answered on the air. The program will be repeated on tape at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

Bonanno Son Given Prison Term

SAN JOSE (UPI)—A federal court judge sentenced the youngest son of Joseph (Joe Bananas) Bonanno to 20 years in prison Monday for extortion.

Judge Robert F. Peckham then suspended a 10-year sentence on the same conviction for another son of the New York underworld figure.

The 20-year sentence went to Joseph Bonanno Jr., 26, who was convicted Dec. 17 of three counts of extortion and one of conspiracy.

Salvatore (Bill) Bonanno, 39, who was convicted of one count each of extortion and conspiracy, was given the suspended sentence.

Alfred Salciccia, 35, who was convicted with the brothers in the extortion case, was sentenced to five years in prison.

All were found guilty of using strong arm tactics to collect $2,900 from Robert E. Piper, a San Jose pilot who said he borrowed the money to finance an unsuccessful attempt at smuggling narcotics.

Lucas Valley Wins 'Open Space' Backing

A Marin County supervisor proposed yesterday that the county investigate helping finance acquisition of 285-acres of "open space" overlooking Lucas Valley. (Other board of Supervisors stories, page 1.)

Supervisor John F. McInnis said the preservation of the rolling hills would be "an advantage to the entire county" and not just the Lucas Valley community which has indicated a willingness to finance the acquisition itself.

McInnis said, however, he did not intend the county's support to "infringe" on the community's control of the area once purchased.

His proposal — if approved — would set a precedent in California since the county would be paying strictly for "open space" with no strings attached, he said.

His suggestion caused Supervisors Louis H. Baar and Michael Wornum to question using county funds for lands which could eventually become a private park for Lucas Valley residents.

The property, owned by Thomas A. Nunes, has been offered to the Lucas Valley County Services Area for $300,000 if paid in a lump sum.

The deal hinges on passage of a general obligation bond which supervisors yesterday scheduled for April 11.

Board chairman Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., whose district includes much of the proposed North Ridge park between Larkspur and Mill Valley, agreed that the idea should be investigated.

While no amount was suggested for Lucas Valley, McInnis said county support would aid passage of the districts' bond in April.

Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

ABATEMENTS — Authorized a 30-day abatement notice against developer Douglas G. Adams of San Anselmo to clean up a slide area on Drake's View Drive near Inverness and a 60-day notice to Alexis Tellis to remove a decaying houseboat in Richardson Bay near the Commodore Airport.

MEETING HOURS — Turned down a request from the City-County Planning Council of Marin to extend meeting hours at the Civic Center to 11 p.m. Currently meetings must end at 10 p.m. due to security regulations. The board added that the council should be "more precise in its deliberations."

CLOSED SESSION — Entered a 20-minute closed session to discuss pending litigation against the county over problems with the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Project in Ross.

BUILDING CODE — Adopted a uniform building code, the product of months of study by county and city building inspectors and local contractors. The new code will standardize all city and county building regulations in Marin.

CAFETERIA — Referred to staff for further study a proposal that the contract with the managers of the Civic Center cafeteria be revised to eliminate the county's underwriting of equipment expenses. During 1971, the county's bill came to about $2,000.

INDUSTRIAL PARK — Approved, without comment, the master plan for the proposed Del Pantino Industrial Park near Gnoss Field, north of Novato.

APARTMENTS — Set Feb. 29 for a hearing on a proposed 28-unit apartment house complex at the intersection of Las Gallinas Avenue and Merrydale Road near San Rafael.

SAN QUENTIN — Referred a letter of protest from Patricia T. Maginnis to the committee for the Marin County Task Force on San Quentin and Prison Reform. She had called for county monitors to be appointed to inspect facilities at the prison at irregular intervals.

STRAWBERRY — Postponed action until Feb. 29 on a request by the Strawberry Recreation District board for powers to condemn unspecified land in the district. The board, which delayed the matter for the second time, told Stephen H. Kaufmann, attorney for the district, he should try again to negotiate with the property owners for sale of their land.

FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

10:33 a.m., Sausalito — Broken radiator hose thought to be a fire in a car on Highway 101; owner of car was Fred Delor, address unknown.

11:43 a.m., Novato — Grass fire in field at the rear of 10 Fredson Court burned area 10 by 10 feet; started by children playing with matches.

West Marin Land Issue Hearing Set

The Varin County Board of Supervisors will meet tomorrow at Civic Center to hear appeals from West Marin property owners whose agricultural preserve contracts may be cancelled.

The hearing, scheduled for 8:30 a.m. in Room 254 of the Hall of Justice, will hear arguments why the lands should be left under contract and continue to enjoy resulting tax breaks.

The Marin County Assessor's Office has recommended that about 40 parcels of less than 100 acres be removed from contract since the lands are not being used for agricultural purposes.

By appealing the assessor's findings, property owners automatically qualify for another four years of tax relief after which their tax bills will increase over a six-year period to normal size.

Mail Service Test Extended

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A pilot program which improved special delivery mail service in the San Francisco metropolitan area will be initiated today in all 13 western states.

Regional Postmaster Fred Huleen reported that a 45-day test of the system produced majo. gains in quick handling of special delivery mail. If the method proves successful in the 13-state area, Huleen said he will propose national application of the new system.

The test program involved use of plastic bags labeled "speedy" to carry special delivery letters so they do not lose their identify in the mail stream.

Paintings Stolen From Zanuck

NEW YORK (UPI)—Paintings worth an estimated $30,000 were stolen from the Plaza Hotel apartment of movie magnate Darryl F. Zanuck.

The burglary apparently took place sometime Monday and was only discovered Tuesday by Zanuck's secretary.

Police said the thieves cut the paintings out of their frames and then dusted the apartment to remove fingerprints.

A Better Minority Hiring Plan Wanted

That was the conclusion reached by the school district board Monday. Trustees appointed a colleague to beef up the policy.

Supt. James A. Collins said the issue came up when the faculty council at Edna Maguire School recommended that minority teachers be hired for the new middle school until their percentage equals the percentage of minority population in the Bay Area.

Collins said the district now has three blacks, one Spanish surname, one Japanese and one miscellaneous minority member on its teaching staff, which totals 165.

The board agreed its present policy of hiring qualified minority teachers whenever possible was "appropriate in its intent but not effective," said Collins.

Trustee John H. Cutler was appointed to study the policy and recommend how it can be strengthened, Collins said.

Trustees also announced a new state requirement that classified employees be covered by unemployment insurance means the district may have to levy an override tax next year. A tax of between one and two cents per $100 assessed valuation may be necessary to cover the new unemployment policy ordered by the Legislature.

The board also agreed to let the county schools office conduct a study to determine attendance boundaries for the district's eight schools and voted to tell the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, the district will be able to handle between 30 and 60 children expected from a 70-unit low-cost housing project on Shelter Ridge.

The Mill Valey School District board also:

LEAVE — Granted a maternity leave to Linda Chittenden,Old Mill School teacher.

TEACHERS — Hired Jack Kling, Edna Maguire School art teacher, at $4,506 for the rest of the year, and Leonard Hart, parttime music teacher aide, at $2.48 per hour.

NEW POST — Promoted bus driver John Young to transportation supervisor beginning July 1 at a salary of $850 per month.

STUDY — Granted Dr. Logan Miles, principal at Homestead School, a leave-study between March 13 and 31. Miles will tour primary schools in Great Britain. The district and Logan each will pay $580 for the trip.

Reflector Plates Sought For Vehicles

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Sen. Jack Schrade, R-San Diego, introduced a bill Tuesday that would require the state to issue reflectorized license plates for motor vehicles.

The measure would go into effect "as soon as is practicable."

Marinwood's Pool Prices, Dates Set

The Marinwood Park and Recreation Commission has set prices and a schedule for the 1972 swim season at the community pool.

Pending final approval by the Marinwood Community Services District board, the pool will open March 25 and the season will close Oct. 15.

Regular hours will be from 10:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. on weekends and holidays until June 16, when the pool will open daily with revised hours to be announced later.

At a meeting Monday, the commission also recommended to the community services board that membership rates for the pool remain the same as last year: $40 for family and $20 for single memberships for Marinwood residents and $105 family and $55 single memberships for nonresidents.

Daily swim rates also will be available. William A. Gordon, recreation director, reported.

The Marinwood Park and Recreation Commission also:

FUNDS — Approved a request for $700 in matching funds from the county senior coordinating council for the Marinwood Funsters, senior citizen group.

CONFERENCE — Approved $150 expenses and authorized Gordon to attend a state recreation conference March 3-7 in San Diego.

Hub Driver Is Treated For Injuries

A 20-year-old San Anselmo youth was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for a concussion suffered when his car spun out and hit an embankment in Fairfax earlier in the day.

The California Highway Patrol said Martin C. Whitmore of 1355 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Apt. 5, apparently was driving west on Sir Francis Drake near Alpine Dam.

Sound Reasoning By South Unmasks Plot To Grab Victory

Deceptive plays don't always work. Sometimes the intended victim has enough evidence to work out what is going on.

SHIFTS TO CLUBS

East speedily took his two heart tricks and shifted to the nine of clubs, which rode around to dummy. Declarer led the four of spades from dummy and played the king from his hand. West followed suit with the deuce of spades, apparently giving the matter no thought.

This was a dangerous play since perhaps East had started with the doubleton queen of spades. West didn't think this was the case, since South would have thought longer if his problem was to choose the right trump play from K-J-10-x-x.

GOOD IDEA

West's deceptive play was a good idea. If South thought that East had the ace of spades, he would get to dummy with a diamond and lead another spade. South would play the queen of spades from his hand, losing to the ace. Then East's jack of spades would furnish the setting trick.

It would do West no good to win the first trump trick with his ace. South would surely get to dummy and lead a spade in order to finesse the ten.

Nevertheless, South was too wise a bird to be caught. He knew that East could not have the ace of spades. Therefore he went over to dummy with a diamond and led a spade to finesse with the ten. This play knocked out the ace of trumps and assured the contract.

DID HE PEEK?

How did South know about the ace of spades without peeking? West had led the deuce of hearts showing a four-card suit. Therefore East had started with five hearts headed by the ace-queen. If East also held the ace of spades, he would have overcalled instead of passing North's bid of one diamond.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ - K Q 10 7
♥ - J 7
♦ - 5 3 2

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one club, using standard bidding methods.

Quake Deaths Drop In 1971

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The highest worldwide energy release from earthquakes since 1964 occurred last year, bringing the first U.S. quake fatalities since 1965.

The Southern California tremor of Feb. 9, 1971, killed 65 persons and caused more than $500 million damage.

However, deaths throughout the world from earthquakes in 1971 took a sharp drop. The National Earthquake Information Center said there were 1,053 deaths last year. In 1970, there were more than 50,000 in Peru alone.

Panel Delays Decision On Expansion Of Center

After taking its first look at proposed expansion of the Corte Madera Center, the Corte Madera Planning Commission has put over to March 13 a decision on the plans.

Plans offered Monday night call for a twin-theater development that would seat 996, a bank and title company building and a restaurant that would probably be filled by Herfy's, a chain run by Campbell's Soup Co., according to William G. McBride, zoning administrator.

E.W. Meiger, general manager of the Marin Management Co. which runs the center, said the buildings would be placed around the perimeter of the facility, according to McBride.

The Corte Madera Planning Commission also:

FEE — Approved setting a sliding fee schedule for design review applications, but the fee plan has not been drawn up yet.

HOUSING — Approved three-fifths of a proposed housing statement to be included in the town's general plan, but put off looking at the final two sections until March 13.

RECORD SIGN — Unanimously denied a request by the Wherehouse record store to increase its sign from 40 square feet to 80 square feet in the Corte Madera Center.

HOME — Put off acting on proposed changes to the home occupations section of the town code.

OPEN SPACE — Appointed Carol Staley, chairman of the committee that drafted the housing element, to head an embryonic committee to draw up an open space policy for the general plan.

MAINTENANCE — Liked the idea of regulations to enforce landscape maintenance, but took no action on the subject.

VILLAGE SQUARE — Approved two alternate landscaping plans for a small traffic island in the Village Square area for submission to the town council.

CYCLE SHOP — Approved plans by Alexander McLean to build a new motorcycle shop at 5776 Paradise Drive next door to Motorcycles Unlimited, then move the cycle shop into the new building.

CAR — Approved plans for a Porsche-Audi dealership to be built by the Reynold C. Johnson Co. of Pleasanton at 5711 Paradise Drive, but asked the company to submit more attractive plans for its freestanding sign.

MAP — Approved a tentative map submitted by Lyman B. Trumbull of 497 Corte Madera Avenue, who divided his lot into two.

SIGN CHANGE — Set a public Hearing for March 13 to consider halving the allowable sign size for businesses in C-3 commercial zones fronting Highway 101, which are allowed twice the sign area of businesses in other zones fronting the highway.

COUNTY PLAN — Set a special meeting Feb. 29 at 7:30 p.m. at town hall to discuss the preliminary countywide general plan, which calls for a dense urban corridor, leaving West Marin largely undeveloped.

REZONING — Set a March 13 hearing on a request by the Western Real Estate Development Corp. of San Francisco to rezone a site at 1 Fifer Avenue from industrial to commercial to allow an office building.

APPOINTMENTS — Elected C. William Thomas chairman and retained John W. Gates as vice chairman, then named Thomas to represent the commission on the board of design and Gates to represent it on the board of adjustments.

Fund-Raiser Under Way

The annual fund-raising campaign to obtain approximately $500,000 to run Guide Dogs for the Blind started yesterday and will run until March 15, according to publicity chairman Anne Hopkins.

The campaign is conducted by mail, using names of former donors and suggested possible donors, she said.

Last year, the school at 350 Los Ranchitos Road, San Rafael, placed 155 dogs with blind persons at a cost in excess of $3,000 per dog, she said.

During the 30 years since the organization was formed to provide guide dogs to returning World War II servicemen the nonprofit organization has placed 2,300 guide dogs. Contributions are tax deductible.

Brazilian Pot Roast Is Tasty

Brazilian cuisine features meat recipes with many ingredients and spices cooked slowly to develop flavor and tenderness. This Brazilian-style pot roast has been adapted to the ingredients available in the United States.

After browning, the beef pot roast is cooked slowly with tomatoes, onion, spices and lemon and orange juices. This long slow cooking is a secret to successful preparation of the less tender cuts of beef.

Beef contains protein of the highest biological quality essential to the body for growth, to repair tissues, to regenerate blood and help build resistance to infection. It is an abundant source of the B complex vitamins and is an excellent source of the essential minerals iron, copper and phosphorus in the form the body can most readily use.

POT ROAST is long on flavor and tends to be an economical entree. This recipe is Brazilian influenced and adapted to ingredients available in the United States.

BRAZILIAN-STYLE POT ROAST

- 4 to 5 pound chuck pot roast (1½ to 2 inches thick)
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons shortening or bacon drippings
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 can (8¼ ounces) tomatoes
- 1 cup sliced onion
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 clove garlic
- ¼ teaspoon thyme
- 1 bay leaf
- 1 cup orange juice
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 6 to 8 cooked bacon slices or curls
- Orange slices, optional

Rub top and bottom surfaces of meat with 1 tablespoon brown sugar. Brown roast on both sides in hot shortening or bacon drippings in Dutch oven or large skillet. Sprinkle salt over roast. Add tomatoes, onion, lemon juice, garlic, thyme and bay leaf. Drizzle one-fourth cup orange juice over all. Cover and cook over low heat until meat is fork tender, 2 to 2½ hours. Transfer roast to heated platter; keep hot. Skim excess fat from pan juices. Pour drippings into measuring cup and add water as needed to make two cups liquid. Blend remaining three-fourth cup orange juice, flour and remaining one tablespoon brown sugar. Stir into drippings. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Pour over or serve with roast. Garnish top of roast with cooked bacon slices or curls and orange slices, if desired. Yield: four to six servings.

Martha Washington's Raisin Cake Is Elegant

Martha Washington's Raisin Cake is just about as honest and straightforward as the man she baked it for. Though an easy and uncomplicated recipe, it makes an elegant and delicious cake that will be a favorite — once you've tried it.

The raisins and spices, imported from afar and saved for special occasions in Washington's day, are now everyday staples. California raisins and currants are inexpensive, and so clean they are ready to use right from the package. Instead of returning the box to the kitchen shelf, empty the rest of the raisins into a candy jar to leave on the kitchen table. They will disappear by the handful when they are in view. And you'll know that your family is enjoying excellent healthful, natural snack food.

MARTHA WASHINGTON'S RAISIN CAKE

- 1 cup butter
- 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons sugar
- ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- ¼ teaspoon cloves
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- ¼ cup half and half
- 2½ cups sifted flour
- 5 eggs
- ¼ cup sherry
- 1½ cups California seedless raisins
- 1½ cups California currants

Beat together softened butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add spices, salt and vanilla. Stir in half and half cup flour. Beat eggs until thickened. Gradually beat into spicy mixture. Add remaining two cups flour and wine alternately to Make smooth thick batter. Stir in raisins and currants. Turn into greased and floured two-quart tube pan. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees) about 1¼ hours. Let cake stand in pan 15 minutes then turn out onto rack and cool. Makes one (9½-inch) cake.

Touch Of Curry Spices Fish Souffle

The national dish of India, if any country can be said to have one particular dish, is a pungent creation known as curry. Up and down the Indian Ocean, from Calcutta to Bombay, curry plays such an important role in the daily diet that it is frequently referred to as the salt of the Orient.

Although Indian blends of curry, which frequently contain as many as 16 different spices, including ginger, cinnamon, mustard seed and cayenne, are generally too spicy for the average American palate, there are many excellent curry powder preparations in this country, which are not as pungent as those used in the East.

Curry has a great affinity for any fish or seafood, and is particularly suited to canned salmon dishes, whether the salmon dish is a croquette, a loaf, a casserole, or today's "high-rise" salmon souffle, which is a new idea in flavor and ease of preparation. Here is a souffle, which may be made in advance, all ready and waiting to be popped into a preheated oven just about half an hour before you want to serve it. It's an ideal guest luncheon or supper dish, because you can let your souffle wait for your guests, rather than let your guests wait for the souffle. Here at last, is the secret of a perfect souffle and a relaxed hostess all wrapped into one recipe.

CURRIED SALMON SOUFFLE

- 3 tablespoons butter
- 1 tablespoon minced onion
- 2 teaspoons curry powder
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 7¾ ounce can salmon
- Salmon liquid plus milk to measure 1 cup
- 2 teaspoons cornstarch
- 1 tablespoon water
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Dash cayenne pepper
- 6 large eggs

Rub bottom and sides of a one and a half quart souffle dish with one tablespoon of the butter. Set dish aside. In saucepan melt remaining butter and in it saute onion and curry powder for five minutes, or until onion is transparent. Stir in flour and cook until mixture is well blended. Drain liquid from can of salmon into measuring cup and add milk to make a total of one cup liquid. Gradually stir liquid into flour mixture and cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until sauce is smooth and thickened. Combine cornstarch and water and stir into sauce. Cook for one minute longer, stirring constantly. Stir in salt and cayenne. Remove sauce from heat.

Separate the eggs, letting the whites fall into a mixing bowl, and reserving two of the egg yolks for the golden sauce. Add the remaining four egg yolks to the sauce and beat well. Return sauce to heat and cook over very low heat until it just begins to bubble around the edge of saucepan, stirring constantly. Stir in salmon and let mixture cool for ten minutes.

Beat egg whites until quite stiff, but not dry. Fold half the egg whites into the salmon mixture thoroughly. Add remaining egg whites and fold in lightly. Turn mixture into prepared souffle dish and cover dish with a large empty bowl or kettle to protect it from drafts. As long as it is protected in this way, it may be prepared completely for one hour before baking. Bake in a preheated 375 degree oven for 35 minutes. Serves four. Serve with golden sauce.

GOLDEN SAUCE

- 2 tablespoons butter
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1 teaspoon curry powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Good dash cayenne pepper
- 1 cup hot milk
- The reserved 2 egg yolks-from souffle recipe
- ¼ cup cream
- 2 tablespoons sherry

In saucepan melt butter over low heat. Stir in flour and curry powder and cook, stirring, for three minutes to remove raw taste from curry. Remove saucepan from heat and stir in salt and cayenne. Add hot milk, return to heat, and cook, stirring, until sauce is thick. Cook over low heat for two minutes, stirring occasionally. Combine egg yolks, cream and sherry. Stir into sauce and cook for one minute longer, stirring constantly, but taking care that the sauce does not boil. Keep warm over hot, but not simmering water, until ready to serve.

AS A finish for dessert cheese-marron spread is the topping for fresh apple slices. The flavoring is from French chestnuts and brandy.

An Elegant Way To End Dinner Party

All you need for a sophisticated climax to a company dinner is an assortment of crisp, chilled apples and an unusual cream cheese spread flavored with French chestnuts and brandy.

Let each guest select an apple and help himself to the spread. Then, with the help of a sharp fruit knife he can slice the apple and top each slice with the spread. Nothing could be more acceptable, more delicious.

CHEESE-MARRON SPREAD FOR APPLES

- 2 packages (8 oz. each) cream cheese
- 1 jar (10 oz.) marrons (chestnuts) in vanilla syrup
- 2 teaspoons brandy flavoring

Mash cream cheese; add one-fourth cup syrup from marrons; whip until fluffy. Chop marrons; add; mix well. Add brandy flavoring. Serve with apples for dessert. Makes about two cups.

Next Time Try Golden Sesame Dinner Buns

Hot, home made yeast breads always have a special something, and golden sesame buns are no exception.

Crisp and crunchy on the outside, light and airy on the inside, golden sesame buns may tempt your dinner guests and family away from the main dish — they're that good. These chewy, crusty rolls — generously sprinkled with sweet, nutty, sesame seeds — taste best when served warm from the oven. Add lots of melting butter, jam, honey or peanut butter. But the rolls may also be baked in advance, frozen and reheated just before serving.

Be sure to use enriched flour for all your baking. Enrichment guarantees nutrients essential for good health: the B-vitamins, niacin, thiamine and riboflavin, plus the mineral, iron.

GOLDEN SESAME BUNS

24 rolls

6½ to 7½ cups enriched flour
1 package dry yeast
2 cups water
½ cup oil
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon salt
2 eggs
Sesame seeds

Stir together three cups flour and yeast. Heat water, oil, sugar and salt over low heat only until warm, stirring to blend. Add liquid ingredients to flour-yeast mixture, and beat until smooth, about two minutes on medium speed of electric mixer or 300 strokes by hand. Blend in one egg. Add one cup flour and beat on medium speed one minute or 150 strokes by hand. Stir in more flour to make a moderately stiff dough. Turn onto lightly floured surface and knead until smooth and satiny, about eight to 10 minutes.

Shape into balls and place in lightly greased bowl, turning to grease all sides. Cover and let rise in warm place (80 to 85 degrees) until doubled, about 90 minutes. Punch down. Divide dough into 24 equal pieces; shape each into smooth ball. Place on greased baking sheets. Let stand uncovered at room temperature until doubled, about two hours. Beat remaining egg and brush over buns. Sprinkle generously with sesame seeds. Bake in preheated 400 degrees oven 20 to 30 minutes, or until done.

Spoon flour into dry measuring cup; level. Do not scoop.

NOTE: If self-rising flour is used, omit salt.

Blass Experiments

Designer Bill Blass in his new collection for summer evening wear experimented with short dinner and evening dresses. The shorts styles have bared shoulders and many ruffles for a young look, with halter tops a favorite look, reports Women's Wear Daily.

What's A Frump? Here's One View

Mary Rodgers, daughter of Richard Rodgers, the celebrated composer, and in private life Mrs. Henry Guettel, says a frump is someone with a closet full of totally unwearable clothes. What a frump needs, she said at the New York Couture Business Council fashion press week recently: "A fashion-wise friend with whom she can go through her closet for what can be altered." Frumps, she added, never get around to doing alterations. "All we do is lose buttons," Mary said, classifying herself as a frump.

Norma And Her Hard Hat

By RENA PEDERSON

DALLAS (UPI) — Norma Mann puts on her hard hat nearly every day and clambers around construction sites.

She's the president of Mann Steel Co. and is one of three women in the United States to own and operate her own steel-company. Some men call it a backbreaking job, but she likes the 12-hour work days and the exciting pace.

"IT'S LIKE playing a hard, fast game of basketball," she said.

She took over the business in 1957 when the original owner died suddenly of a heart attack.

"I was hesitant to take it on, but the backers and the bankers and even my husband encouraged me to do it. Actually I never intended to have to work this hard but I couldn't quit now if I tried."

She has 40 new construction projects under way, including sub-contracts on a 37-story Fort Worth National Bank tower, the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School in Dallas and three projects in the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport.

Among her better known projects are a secret government installation north of Dallas, the new Federal Center in downtown Dallas, the Kennedy Memorial, the Zale skyscraper and the Fairmont Hotel.

She also spends a lot of time in industry-related projects, such as serving on the Ironworker's Joint Apprenticeship Training Committee, the Texas Ironworker's Health and Pension Fund, the Apprentice Trust Fund and chairman of the National Ironworkers and Employers Training Program for Dallas-Fort Worth. And she's on the executive committee of half a dozen others.

"I don't have any children, but I've got 172 employes and my secretary counts them and the 40-odd projects as my 'kids,'" she said.

MRS. MANN, 45, shares the household duties with her husband, an aerospace engineer.

"I have always gotten up since we got married and fixed my husband a full breakfast and I still do and send him off to work," she said. "But he usually cooks supper."

She said the two of them often "slip away" and go hunting and fishing.

"It's good for both of us individually and gives us time to be together, to be reacquainted on weekends," she explained.

Her work takes up her weekdays, all day long: there's steel of every possible size to be ordered and delivered, blueprints to be gone over, more than a hundred husky ironworkers to put in motion and a huge weekly payroll to meet.

"I WEAR a suit and heels to work no matter if I'm in the office or on the site, because that's what I like to wear. The men respect me for my ability," she said.

"You do your homework and you work hard or you don't get it," she added. "That goes the same for men and women."

NORMA MANN owns and operates her own steel company in Dallas, Tex. With 40 new construction projects under way, Mrs. Mann puts in a 12-hour work day and finds the pace exciting. "It's like playing a hard, fast game of basketball," she said. (UPI Telephoto)

Contour Tricks Improve Eyes

A few contouring tricks may make eyes that are less than perfect look better, according to beauty authority Max Factor.

For deep-set eyes, highlight the whole lid, tapering it upward and outward. Highlight with a lighter shade beneath the brow. Small eyes look best when shadowed with a softly irridescent tone. Highlight with an even paler shade just below the eyebrow arch.

Dazzling Array

Japanese designer Issey Miyake has packed a dazzling mix of squares and stripes, rainbow patterns and cartoon characters into his new fashion collection, concentrating on pants and teaming them with short jackets, vests, blazers and shirt jackets. He also favored smocks with ballooning sleeves, according to Women's Wear Daily.

Sonoman Air Division 'Wife Of The Year'

Mrs. Joe H. Dunlap of Petaluma has been chosen as 26th Air Division NCO wife of the year. She formerly was selected as Hamilton Air Force Base's non-commissioned officers wife of the year.

A native of Kansas City, Kan., Mrs. Dunlap has accompanied her husband on various tours in the United States and Europe and they are now residents of Petaluma.

The mother of six, Mrs. Dunlap devotes much of her time working as a volunteer in several service organizations. In Dreux, France, she reinstated the family service program and worked at the teen club, was vice president of the parent-teacher association and served on the welcoming committee of the Protestant Women of the Chapel.

In Midlandhall, England, in late 1966, she worked with the Needy Family Program. She served as president of the NCO Wives Club at Wurtsmith Air Force Base in Michigan and was appointed to serve on the Chaplain's Advisory Council. There she also worked with the Needy Family Program, the welcoming committee of the PWOC and was superintendent of the preschool and director of the youth center.

She also assisted religious facilities in Michigan and received a certificate of meritorius service in religious program from the chief chaplain of the pentagon.

When she arrived at Hamilton in 1970 she organized the first Needy Family Program, which has been instrumental in helping about 47 families.

A Brighter Look

There will be a brighter look for children come fall, according to children's wear designers and fabric producers. Bright colors, lots of plaids and brushed fabrics are on the drawing boards, reports Women's Wear Daily.

Send Cards Throughout Year To Eliminate Holiday 'Blues'

DEAR HELEN:

I agree: Christmas cards are overdone. My husband and I sent out over 300 last year, notes included with many of them (I can't bring myself to the mimeographed sheet). Between the cost of having cards made and postage, it's an amount that would make a sizable contribution to charity.

I'd rather keep in touch with people I really care about at other times, when I can write something interesting. Local or business friends in town? A personal holiday wish is sufficient, but how, when they always send you cards? Makes you feel cheap.

One acquaintance hit on a solution. He had a portrait made of his family and bought space in the newspaper, where it was printed with their holiday greeting below, together with an explanation that they weren't sending cards this year. Of course, that doesn't solve the problem of faraway casual friends —all of whom receive so many cards they don't have time to read them. —DIS-CARDED

DEAR DIS:

Why not, when you send friendly notes throughout the year, suggest that the recipients do likewise and eliminate a lot of Christmas scribbling blues? (I know a woman who sends her holiday cards during the summer — says people appreciate them more.) So long as friends know they aren't forgotten, they may welcome the chance to say "hello" at quieter seasons.

Local acquaintances? Wish them a personal "Merry Christmas" and make a pact that they do the same —with the money saved going to a worthy cause. The key is — "Don't weaken!" Good luck. — H.

P.S. One of my young correspondents went the "recycling" route last year. She sent me a secondhand card, with the first signature crossed out and hers added — in an envelope formerly addressed to her, but with mine pasted over it on an address-label. And — get this: she had erased the cancellation mark while leaving the old stamp intact. On the back of the envelope she wrote, "Fight pollution: this is a recycled greeting."

Know something? The Postal Service routed it through without even charging me "POSTAGE DUE." (Don't try it, readers. It is illegal and clerks may be more alert next time.) — H.

DEAR HELEN:

While the pros and cons of the abortion issue rage, those most qualified to speak remain silent. I mean the girls who have had abortions. Some come through with few traumas. Then there are others, like our daughter. . .

Being a liberal-minded person, I was pro-abortion. When our teenager became pregnant, we arranged for one, with her approval. By then, she saw what Mike really was.

Instead of solving the problem, abortion opened up a Pandora's box. Our Nora became more and more depressed. Out of guilt, she began seeing Mike again. He managed to convince her that she was no good, that no other boy would marry her, that she "owed" him her life because she had "wronged" him. She lost all self-confidence and pride. Finally, after long hours of therapy, she began to see light and broke with him.

Since then she has been trying to rebuild, but it isn't easy. She's now seeing a fine young man, but she worries about how he'll react when she tells him.

From our experience, we find abortion a harrowing thing. Could we hear from others who have been through it? — FULL OF REGRET

DEAR FOR:

You'll hear it almost equally from both sides, I think —for each person reacts differently to abortion —and sometimes the reaction amazes even the girl involved. This is why I continue to believe that expert counseling is necessary before the final decision. Abortion on demand works for many, but there are those, like your daughter, who need to know themselves better before they take the step. — H.

Books Hit Advice By Some Physicians

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — Two recently published books offer some disturbing evidence about the risks of receiving faulty medical advice or an unnecessary operation.

They take patients behind the scenes of hospitals and doctors' offices to reveal a shocking degree of incompetence, haphazardousness and plain greed at the personal and financial expense of countless thousands.

Both books are written by competent medical experts who have become disgusted with what they have seen and want to report what they know to the unsuspecting general public. Both publications have much to offer to people contemplating an elective operation.

According to one of the books, "How to Avoid Unnecessary Surgery," approximately 20 per cent of all operations could be avoided.

THE AUTHOR, Dr. Lawrence P. Williams, the pen name of a "fully qualified and actively practicing general surgeon," estimates that nearly all circumcisions (except those done for religious reasons), and half of all tonsillectomies and adnoidectomies are done solely for the profit of doctors.

In some hospitals, he says, as much as 80 per cent of operations are unnecessary. He estimates that half of the 15 million surgeries each year are performed by "doctors who are untrained or inadequately trained."

He points out that the United States has the highest rate of surgery, amounting to half of all hospital admissions. The rate is double that of Great Britain where nationalized medicine has reduced the profit factor.

Dr. Williams recognizes the difficulty of choosing a competent surgeon and deciding whether any operation is necessary. To help patients make these decisions, he offers a number of tips.

One is to be wary of physician referrals. "The bonds of business connections, medical or other, family relationships, religious ties and friendships are highly influential," he says. "Simply asking a doctor who did his wife's or relative's surgery may be very revealing."

He also suggests contacting the local medical association for names of surgeons certified by the American Board of Surgery. But he warns that certification "is no absolute guarantee that the surgeon is a competent one."

DR. WILLIAMS further advises patients to study about their own ailments at the library and discuss their own symptoms thoroughly with the doctor. If possible, he says, a second qualified surgeon should be consulted. He says such steps have reduced the number of operations by as much as 60 per cent.

The second book, "One Life — One Physician," is the report of a Ralph Nader study group on medical standards and self-regulation. The author, Dr. Robert McCleery, is a former official of the Food and Drug Administration.

The book concludes that "a patient cannot be reasonably sure" that the physician who treats him is "reasonably competent," is "reasonably up to date on diagnostic and treatment techniques" or that his performance will be "monitored with reasonable frequency, objectivity and expertness by his peers."

HE SAYS STANDARDS of competence are extremely variable not only from place to place but even within the same hospital.

"Lack of regulation," he says, "results in each doctor in effect setting his own standards for the practice of medicine in his office."

He cites numerous studies showing great differences even in the use of such common devices as taking temperatures and other tests before an operation is ordered. The publisher of the book is Public Affairs Press, Washington, D.C. The Williams book is published by Nash Publishing, Los Angeles.

Clodagh O'Kennedy, the dynamic Irish designer who is a fashion consultant for Montgomery Ward, has a simple fashion credo. It is—design and color are as important in the environment as on the back. So she expanded her activities in her Dublin workshop, producing a group of O'Kennedy towels. She says a collection of tea towels now is in the pipeline.

COMMUNITY FRIENDS PROGRAM

Helping The 'New' Citizen

By PAT BALMES

Imagine how a psychiatric patient feels upon release from a hospital or clinic. There everything is scheduled — the patient is told what to do, when to eat and where to sleep.

Then suddenly he is off the bus, alone, back into a changed community. Often he has no friends, no car, no job, no groceries and no home. He doesn't know where to turn.

This is a critical time. If his emergency needs are not met, the possibility of his return to the hospital is great.

To ease the convalescent's eadjustment to the community and help build up his strengths, men and women can volunteer to befriend, on a one to one basis, persons recovering from mental disorders during their difficult first three months after release.

THE VOLUNTEERS will be trained in a Marin Association for Mental Health Community Friends Program which begins Tuesday. Five two-hour training sessions will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays, 7 to 9 p.m., at Marin General Hospital Community Mental Health Center in Greenbrae. Three trainers — psychiatrist Dr. Arnold Knepfer, psychologist Dr. Barry Goodfield and community liaison nurse Doris Clark, will work with 15 volunteers.

Volunteers can register with Marin Association for Mental Health. The program is an ongoing project with more training sessions to be scheduled later.

Prospective community friends will be interviewed, selected and trained. During their endeavors with convalescents, volunteers can contact on need and meet once a month with a group advisor who keeps focus on integrating the convalescent with his community. A member of MAMH professional advisory committee provides professional back-up.

Part of a community friend's training is role-playing. In his first lesson one student works with another, acting out a visit in a psychiatric ward prior to a convalescent's release.

The community friend, encouraged to be open and natural, says, "I feel scared. How do you feel?"

After role-playing students see on closed-circuit television what they were doing with their hands that was not consistent with their faces.

MRS. HUGO Bjork of Kentfield, community friends chairman, said a volunteer cannot "just go in and say words that he does not really feel." He must approach the convalescent in a totally honest manner, she said. Characteristically a community friend should have free-flowing friendliness, warmth and stability.

"The community friend is going to be working with a convalescent outside the hospital on a one to one basis. She won't have the sort of backing she would have had working at a hospital," said Mrs. Bjork.

The volunteer must be resourceful in finding things to do and places to go which don't cost money. He should be able to accept idiosyncrasies and quirks and be a warmer-than-average friend.

Dorothy Leake, director of MAMH, added that a volunteer should be a person aware that growing does not stop, someone who wants to go on to new experiences and is not afraid to get involved.

A community friend is neither a figure of authority nor a therapist in a professional sense, according to Mrs. Leake. He needs no psychology background. He is only one of several persons involved with the convalescent during his recovery. He is not the sole factor upon which the convalescent's adjustment depends.

Once trained, the community friend contacts the convalescent, if possible, before he reenters the community. He communicates with the convalescent's family and the professional responsible for his aftercare.

THE FIRST week after the convalescent leaves the hospital his community friend contacts him several times. Constantly on call, he makes about six hours a week available to the convalescent.

The community friend responds to telephone calls from the convalescent. He exchanges personal visits and participates in activities like club meetings, sewing classes and ball games.

He urges the convalescent to participate in events he might enjoy, helps him to locate a church, plans ways to spend his time, discovers ways to have fun and helps him find groups and friends. He encourages the convalescent to take an interest in his appearance, in doing for others and in expressing his opinions.

He tells the convalescent about his community and helps him cut red tape by an excursion to the Department of Public Social Services at the Civic Center to show him how to pick up his welfare check.

The community friend is in touch with the psychiatrist responsible for the convalescent's aftercare. If he notices that the convalescent seems nervous, depressed or is hallucinating he will ask, "Have you taken your medicine (or gone for your weekly shot?) Perhaps you should check with your psychiatrist."

When loneliness is apparent he will suggest some project or a movie together.

"In apathy or withdrawal you have to use every human resorce to tRy to motivate them," Mrs. Leake said.

THE COMMUNITY friend may suggest a visit to one of the Creative Living Centers in Novato, San Rafael or Mill Valley. These centers are open only one day a week until more people volunteer to operate them other days.

There is a tremendous need for residential aftercare in Marin County due to lack of funds, according to Mrs. Leake.

After three months, when the convalescent is self-sufficient, the association ends or continues as a traditional friendship only. The community friend is ready then to befriend another convalescent.

There are agencies with personnel responsible for aftercare, but in most instances their caseloads are too heavy to permit continuing frequent contacts.

So a volunteer is needed to perform this encouragement role because frequent contacts are important during the first week after release. Even more important, a convalescent mental patient needs to know that someone cares — not because it is his job —but because he wants to.

LIVING IN ILLINOIS

Barbara Prosser and Stephen Byard Albert were married at St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross. Following a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe they will live in Des Plaines, Ill. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Prosser of San Rafael, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Albert of Novato.

Low Temperature

Children To Tour Chinese Trade Center

Children at Alpha Schools in San Rafael have spent the past few weeks preparing for their annual Chinese New Year trek to Chinatown in San Francisco.

One hundred children will make the trip tomorrow and tour the Chinese Trade Center, visit a fortune cookie factory, tong houses and the Chinatown YWCA for a preview of the dragon that will be in the Chinese New Year's parade and have lunch at a restaurant in Chinatown.

Preparing for the trip the children, aged 2½ to 6, have been taught to make tea and manipulate chop sticks. Thev have studied customs surrounding the celebration and had a rice cooking demonstration.

After the trip the children will make their own dragon for a parade at their "spring fling," the school's annual show for parents. They will also make shakers to ward off "evil spirits."

VANDALISM

Mill Valley's High Window Rate

(Third of Five Articles)

To present an overall view of the problem of vandalism in Marin and Southern Sonoma, its extent and how it varies from place to place, the Independent-Journal today and on subsequent days is publishing these results of its survey of cities, towns, smaller communities and special districts during 1971:

MILL VALLEY

Until recently, the most persistent problem of vandalism was at the public library, where over a period of five years about 10 bronze letters — each costing $35 — were removed from the library's sign. Finally, according to librarian Alberta L. Hankenson, the letters were fastened flush to a board at a cost of $245. That has halted the theft of the letters, Miss Hankenson said.

Figures released by the Mill Valley Police Department show more than 200 incidents of vandalism during 1971. Reported losses totalled $15,717.

Most of the damage was to windows, the reports showed. One man reported a $2,000 loss when persons entered his home and slashed his waterbed, flooding the house.

Don L. Dimitratos, parks and recreation director, estimated a total of $500 was spent during 1971 to repair and replace vandalized equipment. Most of it went to replace sprinkler heads, he said.

Mill Valley School District officials say vandalism isn't too great a problem. Supt. James A. Collins and Carroll D. Killingsworth, director of business services, say the problem is less severe than in other suburban districts in which they have worked.

Killingsworth estimated vandalism costs the district $500 per year, much of it for broken windows and damage done to buildings by persons who break in and tear up offices.

MUIR BEACH

Although vandalism has sometimes been a problem at Muir Beach State Beach, where restrooms have been damaged, the area's community services district has been more fortunate.

Bruck E. Harlow, chairman of the district board, reports that, to his knowledge, "there has never been any vandalism" to the district's water tanks, wells and pumphouses in the five years he has lived in the community.

MUIR WOODS

Vandalism has been "pretty minimal" in the Muir Woods National Monument in the past few years, according to Chief Ranger Marvin C. Hershey.

Two small signs were damaged in 1971, he said, and people continued to carve their initials on fallen trees and the United Nations memorial. "But as far as I know, there has been no vandalism damage to living trees," Hershey said.

NOVATO

Novato experienced an increase in vandalism last year, including several incidents that led to the closing of Lions Park near Stafford Lake.

Because of vandalism and policing problems, particularly at Pioneer Memorial Park where the old cemetery has been damaged, the city is scheduled to change the park closing hour from 10 p.m. to 6 p.m.

North Marin County Water District and Novato Sanitary District reported vandalism was infrequent and minor, but occasionally there was damage to equipment.

NOVATO UNIFIED SCHOOL DISTRICT

Novato Unified School District suffered increasing vandalism, with losses of $17,801 during 1970 and $12,166 during the first half of last year.

Asst. Supt. Eugene F. DeBrecht said the increased cost was due in part to inflation.

The vandalism at schools included breaking glass, burglary, theft and general vandalism such as damaging equipment and furniture.

During the past 18 months, the district had to replace almost 100 fire alarm boxes at secondary schools, DeBrecht reported.

"Another thing is we cannot keep fire extinguishers readily available because they (vandals) will steal them," he said.

There have been incidents of people pulling out flowers and bushes and recently motorcycles and minibikes have torn up lawns and landscaping.

Insurance costs have doubled from $22,000 to $44,000 and the deductible raised from $500 to $1,000, he said.

REED SCHOOL DISTRICT

Charles L. Condrotte, district business manager, said the district suffered about $3,800 in vandalism last year, "about 80 per cent of it attributed to windows and skylights."

He said he had no records for 1970 for comparison purposes, but "we feel it's increasing significantly, though not drastically."

Burglar alarms have been installed at one school and money is being placed in the 1972-73 budget for more alarms Condrotte said, though the devices are intended to halt burglaries as well as vandalism. The district also has hired a private patrol agency to keep an eye on its schools.

RICHARDSON BAY SANITARY DISTRICT

Vandalism to the district's Trestle Glen treatment has been negligible over the past two years, said Max H. Graefe, plant superintendent. Although a few rocks are thrown into the plant's grounds, none ever has done any damage, he said.

"We've taken some preventive measures such as replacing glass windows with plastic, which rocks can't break, and we've also put screens over windows," he said.

SAUSALITO

Vandalism to city property, particularly in the downtown area, cost the City of Sausalito between $3,000 and $4,000 last year, according to City Engineer Norman Wohlschlaeger.

The city's police department received 41 reports of deliberate damage in 1971, according to Capt. David Malkin. He said the total value of the damage was approximately $2,417. There was no significant rise from 1970, he said.

Wohlschlaeger said the largest single problem was damaged street signs. "People bend them and paint on them," he said, noting that 25 signs had to be repaired or replaced during the year.

"On the waterfront, people throw anything that's not bolted down into the water, including trash can lids and park equipment," he said.

Recently the canvas top of Sausalito's new bus shelter on Bridgeway was slashed with a knife Wohlschlaeger said, and that one public works department maintenance man spent almost half his time repairing vandalism damage.

Sausalito schools were not without their problems, according to Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg. Window breakage in the schools costs the district a considerable amount, he said.

During the 1969-70 school year, breakage totaled nearly $1,400, while in 1970-71 windows worth $1,088 were damaged.

William J. Dabner, plant superintendent of the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District, said vandalism, though present, is not a serious problem in the district and has not increased markedly in recent years.

Last year, he said, vandals broke windows in several district trucks and forced entry into a pump station. He estimated damage during 1971 cost the district under $200.

SPORT NOTES

Night Football Ban Idea Losing Steam

By RALPH CHATOIAN

I am glad the Secondary Administrators Council of San Rafael and Terra Linda high schools has decided to talk over the issue of night football before officially handing in its recommendation to the San Rafael Board of Education.

The council last month drew up a letter that recommended night football be abolished because of problems of crowd control and inadequate facilities. Since that letter, the council has met with coaches and members of booster groups to talk over the problem. Another meeting is set for Friday.

The San Rafael Board of Education controls the decision of night football in Marin County because the only field equipped with lights is at San Rafael High School. Other schools within the Marin County Athletic League rent the field for night football when either San Rafael or Terra Linda High School is not using it.

But because of crowd control and costs foreseen to improve the facilities, the council has recommended night football be abandoned. Hopefully, that recommendation will change. For Marin County fans who can't get away from their jobs for day games, it would be a blow. Saturday afternoon games would allow these fans to see games, but the big problem would be Friday afternoon games.

According to the report from the council there have been incidents of purse snatching, extortion, gate crashing and "several near riot conditions precipitated by large, unruly mobs at night football games." The report further states that more lighting in the parking lot, fencing and additional bleachers are needed at the field at an immediate cost of $21,450.

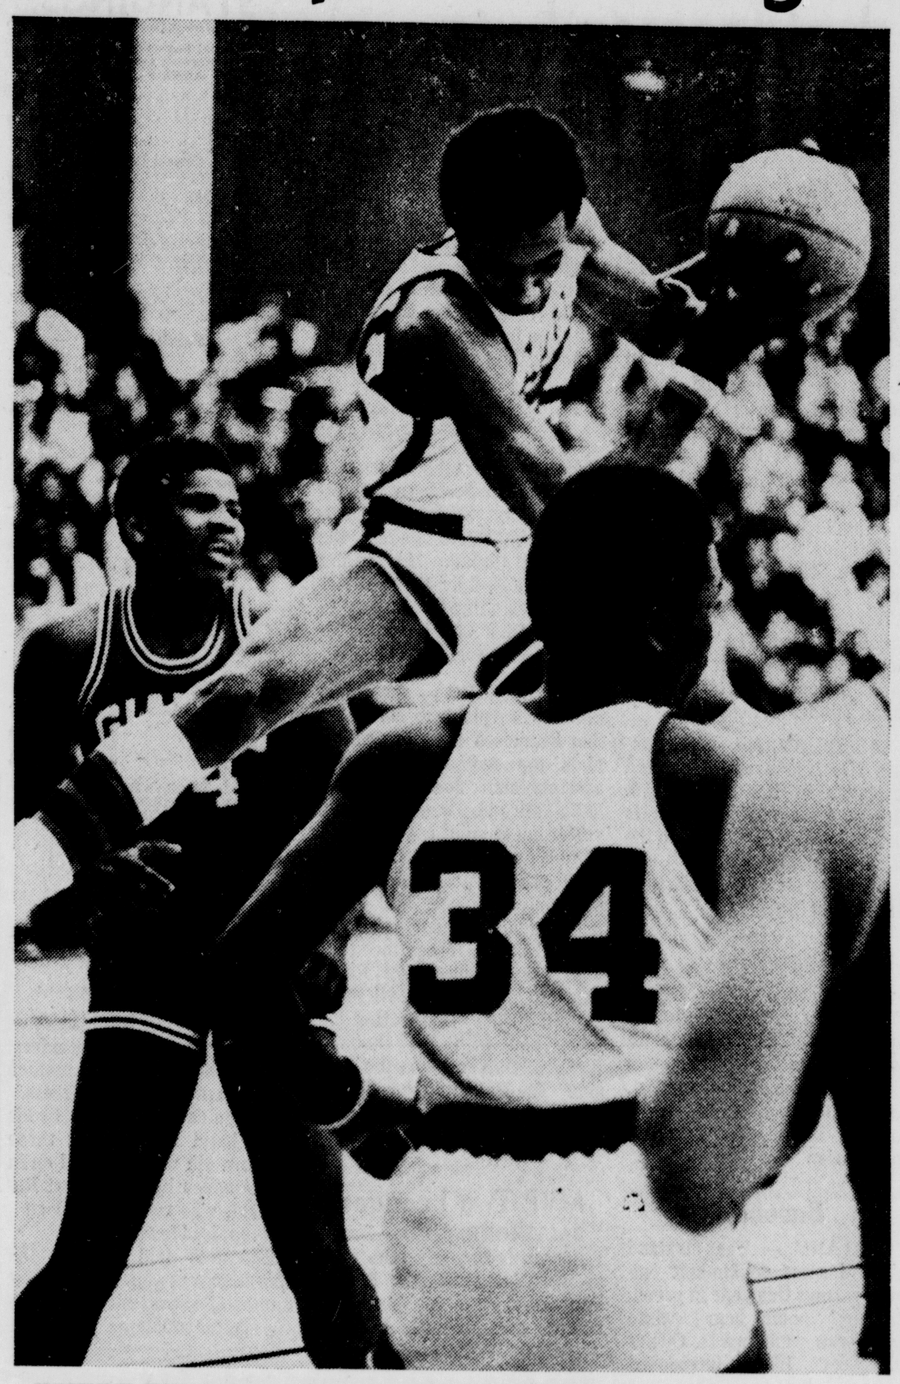
As more than one opponent of the council's recommendation has said:

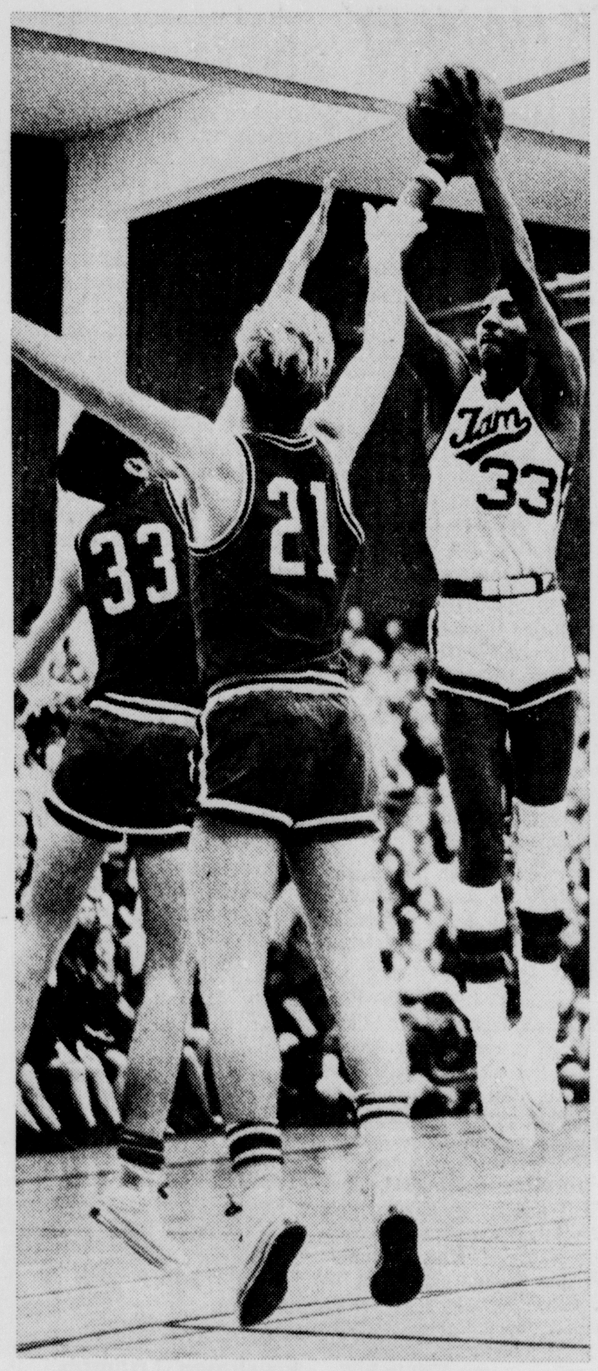
Sure, there are problems that have to be worked out with night football. But you don't solve problems by just knocking the whole thing out.

I think that some of the wording in the report is a little strong. None of the I-J sports writers assigned to the night games has observed any "near riot conditions." Perhaps there could be better supervision at the games, but I don't think night football should be abolished. A lot of Marin County football fans would rather see a good prep game on Friday night than a professional game on Sunday afternoon.

The report concludes with "Since the administration has the direct responsibility for all aspects of supervision and liability, it is the opinion of this council that the risks implicit in continuing night football far outweight any defensible education advantages. It is this council's opinion also that the San Rafael Schools should not participate in night football and the renting of the field to other schools for night football be discouraged during the coming seasons."

But after hearing from all sides, some minds might be changing among council members.





WHERE THERE'S A WILL — The rebounding and scoring of Will Garner (33, in white) were major factors as Tamalpais High School defeated Redwood yesterday, 54-46. At left, Garner dramatically snatched a rebound while Redwood's Darrell Elder (rear) looked on and Tam's John Johnson (34) closed in. At right, Garner drifted outside to fire home a 15-foot jump shot after Redwood's surprise 1-2-2 zone defense kept him from getting near the basket, and shot over Redwood's Tim Hennessy (33) and Mike Connor (21). ## Indians Assured Of Title

By LEW CODDINGTON

In a basketball game crammed with improbable events, Will Garner shook off the burden of four personal fouls and scored 28 points to lead Tamalpais High School to a 54-46 victory over arch-rival Redwood yesterday afternoon at College of Marin.

The victory assured Tam of at least a tie for the Marin County Athletic League title. The Indians are undefeated in MCAL play at 11-0 and would have to lose their last three games for Redwood (8-3) to even hope to catch them.

Despite contracting his fourth foul midway through the second quarter, Garner played a brilliant second half, making eight of 11 shots from the floor and scoring 21 points.

With the score tied at 42-42 with 3:45 left in the game, Garner made two free throws to put Tam ahead for good. Shortly thereafter, he risked banishment to make a daring block along the baseline, and with 3:06 remaining drove the baseline for a bank shot and a 46-42 Tam lead.

Garner applied the Coup de grace with 2:10 left by intercepting an errant bounce pass, dribbling the length of the floor and dropping the ball in for 48-42.

"This is the way we wanted it," said Tam coach Bernie Schneider, whose Indians last won the MCAL in 1968. Redwood won the intervening three titles.

The first improbability came in the opening minute, when Redwood unveiled a 1-2-2- zone defense. The Giants are famed for their excellent man-on-man play, and zones are about as common as snowfalls in Larkspur.

Some teams, notably Drake and San Rafael, have used the 1-2-2 to reduce Garner's scoring sharply. Garner likes to set up along the edge of the foul lane, receive a pass, execute a couple of quick moves and sink a short bank shot. With two men lingering along the lane, the maneuver is more difficult.

"The zone bothered us," said Schneider. Tam was reduced to gunning from the outside, made only seven of 26 shots in the first half and trailed at intermission, 25-22.

With Garner bothered by fouls, Tam opted for the second improbability, a zone defense of its own. Tam's stifling man-on-man play enabled it to lead the league in defense with a 46.1 averaging going into the game, but the Indians went into a 2-3 alignment and stuck with it until the last four minutes of the game.

The third quarter brought about the third improbability — Garner began shooting from outside. The 6-foot-4 senior forward, who has ambitions about being a professional guard, fired home three jump shots from the 15-20 foot range in the first few minutes of the period.

Tam went ahead 36-32 on two jumpers by Clifford Hall sand-

79-66 Victory For Novato '5'

The previously dormant Novato High School fast break awoke vengefully yesterday afternoon and carried the Hornets to a 79-66 Marin County Athletic League basketball victory over host Terra Linda.

Marty Moroski scored 22 points and Joe Powell 20 for Novato, which won its second in a row after five straight defeats and improved its league record to 4-7, the same as Terra Linda.

"We're coming down the court with the ball faster," said Novato coach Jim Caranica. "We were able to get some baskets before Terra Linda got set up. We're feeling more confident now, and we're getting some balanced scoring from people besides Moroski."

Moroski, who is averaging better than 16 points a game, hit 20 or more for the third time in a row. "He also rebounded and passed off well," said Caranica.

Entering the game, Novato had the least potent scoring average in the MCAL, 48.1, and had not exceeded 63 in league play. The total of 79 is the seventh highest in the league this season, out of 44 games.

Guard Eric Borcherding scored 16 and center Mark Lowey 15 for Terra Linda, which trailed by just eight until a Novato spurt early in the fourth quarter jacked the lead to 18. Andy Mora added 10 points.

Drake Tops Marin 'Cats By 64-58

Tom Carlisle scored nine of his 18 points in the fourth quarter as Drake High School kept a safe distance between itself and Marin Catholic and finally defeated the Wildcats, 64-58, yesterday afternoon at Drake.

Thus, Marin Catholic missed a chance to tie the Pirates from San Anselmo in the Marin County Athletic League basketball standings. Drake, which broke a three-game losing streak, is 5-6. The 'Cats, who dropped their second straight, are 3-8.

Drake made just 14 of 30 free throws, but was deadly when it counted in the fourth quarter. After Marin Catholic had reduced the Pirates' lead to 50-46, Carlisle and Mark Daubenfeld made three each and Eddie Chavez four to stave off disaster.

Drake led at halftime, 28-21, and never was on top by fewer than four in the second half. The Pirates shot a decent 41 per cent on 25 of 61 from the floor.

Carlisle grabbed 10 rebounds and John Channell nine as Drake neutralized Marin Catholic on the backboards, getting outrebounded just 33-30.

Channell and Jit Singh scored 10 points each for Drake. Jim Sullivan and Bill Reilly fired home 15 each for Marin Catholic and Tim Stone recorded another 14.

Marin Tars 'Can't Afford Letdown'

With this theme in mind, College of Marin Tars' basketball coach John Panagakis releases his charges tonight at 8 o'clock in Kentfield agaifst Santa Rosa Junior College.

The Tars, seventh-ranked junior college cage team in the state, are fresh from an 86-82 triumph over co-Camino Norte Conference leader Contra Costa College.

"However," Panagakis continued, "if we want to stay tied with Contra Costa (or win outright), we will have to concentrate on one game at a time," starting with Santa Rosa led by Gary Bartholomew.

Marin knocked off Santa Rosa 81-56 on Jan. 15, but the Tars know the Sonoma County delegation will be seeking revenge.

"That's why we've got to play the rest of our games one at a time. We can't afford to look past anybody. We can not even afford to worry about how Contra Costa is doing," Panagakis added.

Regarding the latter subject, Panagakis said "finally, everybody is healthy. (Center Roosevelt) Green's right shoulder is responding to heat treatment, and Neil Traub's left ankle (injured in a pickup game at Novato High School two weeks ago) has improved.

Warriors Hold Off Buffalo

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The Golden State Warriors climaxed a swing in the eastern confines of the National Basketball Association with a 103-100 victory over Buffalo Tuesday night. Today they were preparing for a visit Friday to Seattle where one game separates the Western Division second-place Warriors from the third-place Super Sonics.

San Marin Stuns San Rafael, 63-57

The Mustangs entered last night's basketball game with San Rafael as sole occupants of last place in the Marin County Athletic League, but shot an incredible 65 per cent from the floor in the second half to suffocate the third-place Bulldogs, 63-57.

John Tait and Hoza Wright contributed 13 and 12 second-half points, repsectively, as the Mustangs won their third game in their last five tries after an 0-6 start and pulled into a seventh-place tie with Marin Catholic at 3-8.

San Marin trailed by seven at the end of the first quarter, and by three at the half, but featuring strong rebounding by Fred Doar, Tait, and Wright, the Mustangs rocketed out to a 45-40 lead with one period to go.

Towheaded Wayne Lechner netted 21 for San Rafael, as the Bulldogs lost their fifth out of the last six games, to set themselves in third place at 6-5.

Frauenhofer said, "I'm really pleased with the scoring. We have four players with 10 or more." (Doar 19, Wright 14, Tait 15, Marty Larsen 11)

With 2:12 to go in the game, Jerry Molinari's free throw pulled the Bulldogs to within two at 55-53, but Larsen's jumper and Bart Saling's drive increased the margin to six.

Lechner maneuvered for a short bank shot and then tallied on two free throws to cut the score to 59-57 with 1:15 to play, but Doar and Wright drove underneath in the last minute to draw away from the frustrated Bulldogs.

A's, Blue Separated By $65,000

OAKLAND (UPI)—Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley said Tuesday that he has offered Vida Blue a $50,000 contract but the ace hurler wanted $115,000.

He said he has offered the pitcher $50,000 and "I won't pay him a penny more." He added Blue's agent demanded $115,000.

The agent said Blue was going to be sold, traded or he would sit out the season, the owner said.

But, Finley told sports writers, "I won't sell him or trade him but he may sit out the season."

Blue amassed a 26-8 record last season. He was awarded the Cy Young Award and the American League Most Valuable Player honor.

Among others who have failed to reach agreement were Reggie Jackson, Sal Bando, Joe Rudi, Dave Duncan, Dick Green, Rollie Fingers and Jim (Catfish) Hunter.

"No," he said, "we're in Oakland to stay. We hope t draw between a million and a quarter and a million and a half fans this season."

It Might Be Astros' Year

Houston's pitching staff was second best in the National League last season. The Astros finished the season with a 3.13 earned run average. The Met pitching staff led the league with a 2.99 ERA.

This season the Astros believe they are going to lead the league in team pitching. Not only that, the Astros believe that with any kind of break they are going to win the National League pennant.

The Astros got York and Lance Clemons, a promising rookie southpaw, from Kansas City in a winter trade for John Mayberry and Dave Grangaard. York was Kansas City's bullpen ace last season. York throws a sidearm sinker. He struck out 103 batters in 93 innings last year. His ERA was 2.90.

THE ASTROS could afford to trade Mayberry's power bat because in another winter deal they got Lee May from Cincinnati along with Tommy Helms and Jim Stewart for Joe Morgan, Jack Billingham, Denis Menke, Cesar Geronimo and Ed Armbrister.

Last season May hit 39 homers and knocked in 98 runs for the Reds. The big first baseman may find it a bit more difficult hitting homers this year — at least the indoor variety. For some reason, it's getting tougher and tougher to hit home runs in the Astrodome.

May is a more experienced first baseman than Mayberry. So that's an added plus for the Astros in their change of first basemen. In Tommy Helms, the Astros got one of the best second base gloves in baseball — a steadier glove than the one they had in Morgan but not by much. The Astros lost a perfect leadoff man when they let Morgan go.

PERHAPS THE Astros will try Roger Metzger in the leadoff role this year. The rookie shortstop isn't as clever with a bat as he is with a glove. But he's no automatic out and he has speed. He hit .235 last season, including 11 triples and 14 doubles. He stole 15 bases. Metzger made only 17 errors in 149 games.

With the veteran Doug Rader at third base, the Astros have a solid infield from corner to corner in May-Helms-Metzger-Rader.

JOHNNY EDWARDS, Jack Hiatt and Larry Howard give the Astros a competent catching staff. Edwards again was the top fielding catcher in the National League last season with a .995 percentage. He set an NL record for consecutive errorless games (138) in 1971.

So the Astros definitely are a team to watch this year. The deals the Astros made with Cincinnati and Kansas City were dandies. But the one the Astros made with San Diego may make their pennant dreams come true. The Astros got Dave Roberts from the Padres for Derrel Thomas, Mark Schaeffer and Bill Grief. Roberts won 14 games for the lowly Padres last season and his ERA was 2.10.

"We have two plays against the zone," said Schneider. "In practice this week, we spent exactly one minute on each." While it was not a victory for preparedness, it may have been a victory for self-confidence.

"After we played Redwood the first time, I told the team that if they ever used a zone against us, they would be pushing the panic button, admitting they couldn't handle us man-on-man. I reminded the team of this at halftime. That was my halftime talk."

Tam made 11 of 20 shots from the floor in the second half, and committed only five turnovers, compared with 10 the first half. "And two of those turnovers came in the first couple of minutes," said Schneider. "After that, we barely made any."

Tam also licked its season-long foul-shooting problem, sinking 18 of 26, preventing Redwood from catching up in the closing minutes when the Giants fouled.

Steve McGee scored 12 points for Redwood, 10 in the first half, and Darrell Elder added another 12. Jared McFerrin scored nine for Tom. Hall got only four, but they came at a vital time. "He was a big help," said Schneider.

A crowd estimated at 1,300 viewed the game, and the stands were comfortably full. Tam athletic director Al Ahlsten turned away people when he thought capacity had been reached. "We turned away about 300," he said.

Latecomer Lutz Wins In Toronto

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

TORONTO — For Bob Lutz of Tiburon, it was a case of better late than on time.

Lutz missed a plane earlier this week and arrived late for the opening round of the $50,000 World Championship Tennis tournament, but showed no ill effects as he defeated Terry Addison of Australia, 6-2, 7-6.

Later he teamed with Arthur Ashe, who also had missed his plane, to defeat Roy Barth and Tom Leonard in doubles, 7-6, 6-3. Ashe was not so fortunate in the singles, falling to unranked Graham Stilwell of Great Britain, 6-4, 6-4.

SALISBURY, Md. — Romania's Ilie Nastase, top-seeded foreigner in the $55,000 U.S. Men's Indoor Open tennis championships, advanced to the third round last night with a 6-4, 6-1 win over 18-year-old Paul Ramirez of Mexico.

OAKLAND — The Oakland A's will sport double-knit pullover jerseys this year in green, gold or "polar bear" white along with white pants. Owner Charles O. Finley introduced the new duds yesterday and said the all-white combination is reserved for Sundays.

Skiing

VIENNA — Austrian skier Karl Schranz said today his decision to quit competitive skiing meant he will not compete in World Cup races in North America this year. "I am going to stop immediately and will not go to this year's World Cup races anymore," Schranz, 33, said.

Basketball

CINCINNATI — University of Cincinnati basketball coach Tay Baker, who has compiled a 120-59 record over seven seasons, announced last night his resignation, effective at the end of this season. Baker said he would remain at the school as a full-time instructor in the physical education department.

Football

FULLERTON — Cal State Fullerton has tabbed another University of Southern California assistant as its head football coach. Pete Yoder, the backfield coach for John McKay at USC for the past two years, was named yesterday to succeed Dick Coury as the Titans' second grid mentor.

SACRAMENTO — Gov. Ronald Reagan plans to honor the San Francisco 49ers as California's top football team, but assemblyman Joe Gonsalves, D-La Mirada, wrote Reagan yesterday to point out "that out of five games the 49ers played with other California teams they only won one, that game being against the San Diego Chargers. In three meetings with Los Angeles, the Rams defeated the 49ers in all three games. In the one meeting the 49ers had with the Oakland Raiders, Oakland was the winner." The Raiders' over-all won and lost record is also better, he said.

Lamonica Surgery Called A Success

OAKLAND (UPI) —Surgery on the throwing hand of Raiders' quarterback Daryle Lamonica has been pronounced a success.

Lamonica was bothered by his right hand for the last three seasons. He was operated on in Los Angeles by Dr. Robert Rosenfeld, who removedartilege and repaired tendons.

Rosenfeld said Tuesday the operation was a success and that Lamonica should not experience any special problems.

NBA Referee Steals Show

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

It isn't often that the referee is the center of attraction on a basketball court but it happened to Jack Madden Tuesday night.

Madden was called upon to perform the unenviable task of calling the Atlanta-Detroit National Basketball Association game alone. ut he was equal to the task and received the supreme compliment — praise from the players.

Madden's sternest test came in the final minute when he whistled fouls that enabled Pete Maravich to hit two free throws and Lou Hudson to convert four and lift the Hawks to a 113-105 victory over Detroit.

"It must have been a foulup in the schedule," said Madden. "It was a very trying experience. No NBA official wants to work a game alone. But everybody was cooperative out there. I don't think I've ever gotten as many compliments for any game I've worked.

"I know I missed fouls but they (the players) understood," added Madden. "Dave Bing, especially, told me several times as he was running down the court that I was doing a good job. Lou Hudson, too."

Hudson apparently had no complaints as he scored 26 points and Maravich hit 25 for the Hawks.

In other action, Los Angeles downed Cincinnati 125-118, Boston beat Portland 111-104, Baltimore ripped Houston 113-98 and Golden State edged Buffalo 103-100.

Gail Goodrich and Jerry West combined for 57 points as the Lakers surged to their 51st victory in 59 games this season. Goodrich hit 33 points and West added 24 while reserve Pat Riley hit a career-high 27 points.

BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

Lights Identify A Power Boat

Boat owners, even those who have been around the water for a long time, are always looking for information on how to get the best out of their equipment.

The newcomer to the sport is even more anxious for information and expertise.

From the variety of questions we are asked, it is not unreasonable to believe that the avid boatman is a person thirsting after knowledge. For example:

Q. How can you recognize a sailboat at night by its lights?

A. From a position ahead of the sailboat it's easy. A boat under sail alone is not required to show a white light forward. If you can see a white light and a red or green navigation light, it is almost certain it's a power boat. For the full story on lights, send for the Coast Guard Boating Guide (booklet CG-340), 45 cents from the Supt. of Documents, U.S. Govt. Printing Office, Washington, D.C., 20402.

Q. Is it a law that you must keep your hands on the tiller or steering wheel at all times?

A. No. The law doesn't say this. However, if you get into an accident while you leave the tiller unattended, you might be charged with reckless or negligent operation. And it doesn't seem too hard to prove, now does it?

A. The expression, "Rules of the Road," doesn't mean a highway law or traffic regulation. It's a term common in the U.S. (and all other English language countries) and refers to the rules which apply to all vessels to avoid collisions. The most basic rule is that when two vessels approach each other, each turns to the right. Please get a copy of the Coast Guard Boating Guide. It explains all.

A. In many places such as harbor entrances, canals, etc., there is a speed limit. Often it's five or six mph. It's usually posted in plain sight. In other places you can go as fast as you like. But remember, if by going fast, your boat's wake causes damage, you are responsible and may be sued. Another speed limiting sign often seen is one which says "No Wake."

Q. What's the difference between a knot, a hitch and a bend?

A. This answer can lead to arguments . . . but I'll quote a concensus of authorities. A "knot" is a kind of overall term to cover most kinds of rope fastening. A "hitch" is a kind of knot which tends to jam tighter under tension but is easy to undo when the stress is off. A "bend" is any knot used to fasten two ropes together, or to secure a rope to an eye or spar. As you can see, they have all come to mean about the same thing.

Q. In an argument a friend said the pitch of a propeller is the angle of the blades. Just what is pitch?

A. Pitch is a distance, not an angle. It is the distance measured usually in inches that a propeller would move through the water in one revolution. It's a theoretical distance only, because there is always some "slip."

Q. If a sailboat running downwind approaches another tacking upwind on a collision course, who gives way?

A. The boat running with the wind must give way. Because this rule was made back in the days of square riggers and was based on their capabilities, most boaters think the procedure should be reversed. Present day sailing rigs are much more maneuverable beating against the wind. However, don't expect this anachronism to be changed overnight.

Sonoma Staters Humbled

By PAUL DWORIN

In a game that remined no one present of basketball, Sonoma State College was humbled last night, 92-72, by visiting independent Fresno-Pacific College. The loss dropped Sonoma State's record to 3-20 for the season.

Sonoma State was defeated because of three factors: poor shooting, poor defense and an incredible first half which saw the Cossacks score only 19 points.

The Cossacks were down by 11 before they scored their first point, and it was 18-1 before Garfield George put in Sonoma State's first field goal at 13:00 in the first half. Then, after exchanging baskets for awhile, Fresno-Pacific went on a tear, outscoring the Cossacks 23-9 to take a halftime lead of 47-19.

In that first half, Fresno-Pacific's Ken Theisen and Ken Wall shot and scored practically at will, as Sonoma State gave the Vikings anything outside of 15 feet. Thiesen and Wall scored 11 and 10 points in the half. They finished with 20 and 18, respectively.

Added to the Cossacks' defensive miseries was their terrible shooting. Sonoma State hit only 18.5 per cent of its shots in the first half, and could convert only 27.5 per cent of its 102 shots from the field for the game.

Sonoma State was outrebounded only 68-67, but in this case statistics are misleading as the Vikings repeatedly got second and third efforts at the basket, and Sonoma didn't get a defensive rebound for the first five minutes. George led the Cossacks with nine rebounds.

Windward Passage First Across The Finish Line

ACAPULCO (UPI) —Windward Passage continued to reign as queen of the seas today after pacing 25 pursuers to the elapsed time victory in the 11th biennial San Diego-Acapulco yacht race.

She crossed the finish line Tuesday as her Hawaii-based skipper Mark Johnson raced her across the last 42 miles while the 76-foot Blackfin of San Francisco wallowed in a near calm.

They had been a halfmile apart when the 73-foot ketch caught the wind that Blackfin missed. The two vessels finished 4 hours 45 minutes apart.

But there was still some question as to whether Windward Passage would repeat its 1971 Trans-Pacific triumph of both finishing first and winning corrected time and class titles. That computation would have to wait until all the smaller competitors finished the long sail.

Sonoma High Tops Rancho Quint, 63-48

Rancho Cotate High School of Rohnert Park fell behind by 12 points in the first quarter last night and never came back as the Cougars were bested by Sonoma County League rival Sonoma High School, 63-48.

The loss drops Rancho Cotate's league record to 6-4 and leaves the school in third place in the SCL.

Whether it was "Cougar Blues" or just poor luck, Rancho Cotate couldn't get untracked and was out of the game by halftime, falling behind by 15. The teams played even the last two quarters.

Leading scorer for Rancho Citate was Marshall Brant with 15 points. Brant fouled out in the third quarter along with Rancho Cotate's leading scorer, Steve Wlodarczyk.

Petaluma Streak Broken

Petaluma High School saw its eibgt-game winning streak go up in smoke last night in Napa, as the Trojans were beaten by the Napa Indians, 72-68, in a North Bay Leaue contest.

Even with the loss, Petaluma is still in front of the pack in the NBL with an 8-2 league record — good for a half-game lead over Vallejo. The Trojans' record now stands at 18-4 for the year.

Although falling behind by eight points and only holding the lead once, the Trojans were never really out of it as sharp-shooting John Zakariassen kept on pouring in shots from outside and Jim Thomas muscled in the points underneath against Napa's 7-foot center, Stew Walkenhorst. Zakariassen hit 30 points to take game honors, and Walkenhorst scored 26 to lead the Indians.

The Trojans were outrebounded, 33-23, with Dan Cader picking off six to lead Petaluma. Cader Was starting in place of the injured Al Highstreet.

NATIONAL ROADSTER SHOW

7 Entries From Marin

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Seven handcrafted Marin County vehicles will vie during the 24th annual National Roadster Show that opens a 10-day run Friday at the Oakland Coliseum.

The Marin delegation includes four entries from San Rafael, two from Fairfax and one from San Anselmo, according to show manager Mel Fernandes.

Show doors at the coliseum's Exhibit Hall will be open from 6 to 10 p.m. weekdays and from 1 to 10 p.m. Saturdays, Sundays and Feb. 21, Washington's birthday.

Features from six western states and Canada are headed by a $10,000 Roseville creation — the world's only four-seat Corvette — and a 1914 Stutz Bearcat re-created for a television series by George Barris, famed Hollywood car stylist.

San Rafael vehicles include a gull-winged Invader GT-2 customized by Bruce Weeks, 21, College of Marin student who lives at 1850 Fourth Street; a new competition sedan rated as a $15,000 investment by Norman R. Hudson, 28, plastering contractor of 127 San Rafael Avenue; a $20,000 "funny car" styled from a 1971 Corvette by Ken Silvestri, 28, race car builder of 179 Paul Drive, and a hand-crafted powerboat by William van der Ploeg, 30, Western Electric installer of 1317 Lincoln Avenue.

Fairfax entries are a $9,000 competition hardtop fashioned from a 1968 Camaro by Joseph Sarro, 25, auto mechanic of 157 Meernaa Avenue, and a customized imported motorcycle by S. Joe DeMasi, 24, custom painter of 2 Sequoia Road.

San Anselmo will be represented by a street rod sedan built as an $8,000 investment from a 1928 Ford by Mark Mennucci, 27, auto painter of 1208 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Entries at the Oakland show vie in 40 classes for more than 100 awards valued at $12,000 and headed by a $5,000, nine-foot trophy for "America's most beautiful roadster," Fernandes said.

Largest and oldest event of its kind, it is sponsored by the American Automotive Achievements Association.

New Rules For Depreciation, And Recapture On Real Estate

The only accelerated depreciation methods allowed for new real estate bought or constructed after July 24, 1969, is the 150 per cent declining balance or any other consistent method which is not more than 150 per cent declining balance. The 200 per cent declining balance and sum of years digits methods may no longer be used. This rule does not apply to new residential rental property.

Depreciation on used real estate is also slowed down. If acquired after July 24, 1969, no accelerated depreciation is allowed, only straight line. This also includes realty converted to business use after July 24, 1969.

This rule does not apply to used residential rental property.

The special rule for residential rental property is that the 200 per cent declining balance or sum of years digits methods may be used for new property and 125 per cent declining balance may be used for used property with a useful life of 20 years or more when acquired. Used property with less than 20 years life is limited to stright line.

To qualify as residential rental property, at least 80 per cent of the gross rental income from the building must be from dwelling units (hotels and motels do not qualify if more than half the units are transient).

The 80 per cent gross income test must be met each year. In any year the 80 per cent test is met, the higher rate may be used. Any year in which the 80 per cent test is not met, the lower rate must be used.

Changes back and forth from year to year as required under this rule may be made without consent of the IRS. If you use any depreciation rate greater than straight line on real estate, then when you sell the real estate that portion of the gain attributable to the accelerated depreciation may be taxed as ordinary income instead of capital gains.

Here's how that works: If you sold real property pursuant to a binding contract that was in effect on July 24, 1969, then you are taxed at the ordinary income rate on 100 per cent of the excess depreciation minus 1 per cent for each full month after 20 months. If you held it over 120 months, then there is no recapture.

On government assisted housing projects, constructed or acquired before 1975, such as FHA, 221 (b) (d) or FHA 236 projects, the recapture of accelerated depreciation is 100 per cent minus 1 per cent for each full month after 20 months.

On residential rental property which meets the 80 per cent dwelling rule and rehabilitation expenditures for low cost housing project, the recapture rate is 100 per cent minus 1 per cent for each full month after 100 months. If you hold the property for 200 months, then there is no recapture of the excess depreciation. If you hold the property for 16 ⅔ years, not any of the sale will be treated as ordinary income.

On property held for 12 months or less, all depreciation is treated as ordinary income not just additional depreciation.

Hamilton's Closing Is Unlikely, Gargiulo Says

Novato Mayor Joseph D. Gargiulo said yesterday he didn't believe that Hamilton Air Force Base "will ever be phased out."

Speaking before the Novato Republican Women's Club at Nero's Restaurant, Gargiulo said he believed the base "was popular and one of the Air Force's finest" and would remain in military use.

Proposed joint civilian-military use of the base has revived comment that the base's days as a military establishment are numbered.

Club members asked what would become of the Rafael Village federal housing if the military were to move out of Hamilton.

Betty Machado, a member, said it probably would be transferred to the Marin County Housing Authority and "become public housing."

It's federal land and a public agency would have first rights to it, she said.

He said he believed that the population of Novato, now 32,000, would reach 45,000 to 50,000 within the next 10 years, less than others have predicted.

Only U.S. Newsmen Allowed For Visit

TOKYO (UPI)—Only American newsmen are being allowed to enter China for coverage of President Nixon's visit, the Kyodo News Agency said in a dispatch from Peking today.

It said the Chinese government has notified foreign embassies in Peking that reporters from their countries cannot be admitted for the event.

SPECIAL AWARD

Brother's Heroic Act Is Due Honor

A Terra Linda teen-ager will be honored tomorrow for saving his younger brother from bleeding to death after a front yard accident last summer.

Mark Lamke, 16, will receive a special lifesaving award at the noon meeting of the Marin Red Cross chapter's directors in the auditorium of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. building at Third and Brooks streets, San Rafael. The award will be presented by Bruce Dreier, safety program chairman for the Red Cross chapter.

Looking on will be Mark's brother, Michael, 15, who has undergone months of surgery and therapy since the near-fatal accident last July 20, and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lamke of 695 Barberry Lane.

Michael was riding his bicycle on the sprinkler-dampened, slippery lawn at home, when he skidded into the family house-trailer. He put out his arm to prevent the crash, and it went through a window in the trailer. As he fell, the jagged glass slashed muscle, nerves and the major vein and artery in his arm.

Mrs. Lamke, an X-ray technician, heard Mike's cries, rushed to his side and began yelling for help. Mark, half a block away, heard the call and saw what had happened. He grabbed a towel and used his Explorer Scout first aid training to stop the blood, which Mrs. Lamke described as "squirting five feet into the air."

With the aid of Terra Linda firemen and an ambulance, Mike was taken through commuters' rush hour traffic to Marin General Hospital, where his arm was saved. Mrs. Lamke said Saturday he has shown amazing progress in regaining feeling and use in the arm and hand.

Three adults also will be honored tomorrow for saving the life of a man who blacked out and fell into a swimming pool last September. Keith Chapman, a California Highway Patrol officer living in Novato; William Craig of Novato and Marilyn Constantino, a nurse from San Francisco cooperated in reviving Donald Nicolai of Novato, the victim.

Plea Made In Theft Of Car

Gary Clyde Kruger, 20, of no known address, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a sentence of stealing a car in San Anselmo and driving it to Orange County.

A preliminary hearing was set for next Tuesday.

Kruger was stopped by Anaheim police last Wednesday when they noticed two bald tires and a cracked windshield on the car he was driving.

Police said Kruger and a girl hitchhiker attempted to escape on foot after the car was stopped, but both were captured.

The girl was released but Kruger was held for Marin authorities when a check revealed the car had been stolen from a San Anselmo residence.

Cost Of Ferries Perils Transit Plans

When the Golden Gate Bridge District first considered entering the mass transit business, it ran into a hangup between advocates of buses and those who wanted ferries.

It was obvious to just about everybody that today's commute traffic is far too great to be handled by ferries alone. It was the Golden Gate Bridge itself that made possible rapid population growth in Marin and Sonoma counties. Ferry transportation had not been able to expand enough to foster such growth.

The ferry advocates, however, included some powerful figures. Chief among these were San Francisco's supervisors, who control (or occupy) eight of the 18 positions on the bridge district board (a ninth is appointed by San Francisco's mayor.)

The San Francisco supervisors insisted that, before they would approve putting the district into the commute bus business, it must provide commute ferries.

AND SO we now have a situation like this:

During January, the district's new bus fleet carried nearly a half-million passengers — 491,072 to be exact. During the same month, its Sausalito-San Francisco ferry operation carried 64,682 passengers.

However, during the next fiscal year the district plans to spend more than three times as much on expansion of its ferry operation as on expansion of its bus fleet. Total outlays In fiscal 1973 are figured at about $19 million for ferries, $6 million for buses. These include purchase of three more ferry boats and 20 more buses.

WHEN THIS EXPANSION is completed, the ferry operation will have total capacity of 2,825 persons per trip, each way. The bus operation will have capacity of 8,150 persons per trip, each way.

The ferries, of course, don't get the people all the way home, in most cases, so many of those who ride the ferry must also ride the bus.

The bridge district, then, intends to spend within the next year more than three times as much to provide a ferry system that can haul only about a third as many passengers — and not take most of them as close to their homes. In other words, it will spend about nine times as much per passenger to provide ferries as to provide buses.

Furthermore, in making this tremendous outlay, the district — unless it gets an expected $12 million from the federal government — will use up all its reserve funds and have to go to other financing.

WOULDN'T IT MAKE sense for the Golden Gate Bridge District to postpone expansion of the ferry system? Should it use up its reserves to spend nine times as much to haul a passenger by water rather than by land?

If it does use its reserves in this manner, there will be no money at all left for rail transit —which all along has been talked of as the eventual solution to the commute problem.

This seems like an excessively high price to pay to indulge the predilection for ferries of San Francisco supervisors (who don't use the system much anyhow).

More Than Pique Behind Governor's Blast At Judge

By RUS WALTON

There was more than just a fit of pique behind Governor Reagan's recent blast at Sacramento Superior Court Judge William Gallagher.

Judge Gallagher, who was first appointed to the superior court bench by former Gov. Edmund G. Brown, has earned the reputation of being California's "welfare rights judge." And Governor Reagan was accusing him of "judicial misconduct" because of a long string of anti-taxpayer welfare rulings during the past two years.

Several judges feel that the governor's choice of words was too harsh. But, they agreed Judge Gallagher has been too fast and loose with temporary restraining orders in cases involving the state's efforts to reform welfare.

THE TEMPORARY restraining order is an important part of our legal system. It permits the court to temporarily halt an intended action until both sides in the dispute can present arguments.

Judicial canons urge judges to use great care in issuing restraining orders. They are cautioned to resort to such relief only in extraordinary cases. Judge Gallagher has used the TRO as almost standard procedure on challenges to the welfare reform program.

A temporary restraining order may be obtained without giving notice to the defendant in a lawsuit. But, such immediate relief is highly unusual and an exception to the adversary system on which American justice is based.

Judge Gallagher apparently accepts the exception as his rule. During recent months he has, more often than not, granted TROs simply on the request of taxpayer-funded welfare rights attorneys. In some cases he has given the state's attorneys two hours notice; in some cases no notice at all.

WELFARE ORGANIZATIONS say they seek to have their cases tried in Sacramento because that is the state capitol and the cases have statewide impact. There is more credibility to the claim of those who say welfare attorneys by-pass local county superior courts and seek out Judge Gallagher because of his record in support of their cause.

As the presiding judge of the Sacramento County Superior Court, Judge Gallagher makes it a practice to hear welfare and Medi-cal cases himself.

At present 14 of the 18 major court cases affecting welfare reform in California are before Judge Gallagher. Following his criticism of Judge Gallagher, Governor Reagan said the State would move to disqualify the judge from such cases in the future.

"We do not believe there is a total lack of bias." That's the way the governor explained the move against Judge Gallagher.

DURING THE PAST year the judge has issued nine temporary restraining orders involving the state's welfare reform program. The delays caused by his actions have cost the taxpayers millions of dollars.

In one case Judge Gallagher issued a restraining order on welfare grant reductions without prior notice to the state. The next day he set aside his order when he learned that it would have kept the state from making any welfare payments at all that month.

In another case Judge Gallagher put a temporary hold on regulations involving limits on the value of an automobile owned by a welfare recipient. The order was issued without prior notice to the state and the judge removed himself from the case when challenged.

In yet another case, Judge Gallagher issued a restraining order which has the effect of overruling a decision made by the Alameda County Superior Court on recipients' work-related expense deductions.

All that and more was behind Gov. Reagan's criticism of Judge Gallagher's conduct.

No Wonder U.S. Courts Are Clogged

May I be allowed to comment on a report carried by the I-J on Feb. 4?

This report was that U.S. District Court Judge Peckham had refused an injunction to halt construction of U.S. 101 bypass at Novato.

Mr. D. P. Ferguson, attorney for the plaintiffs, was reported as saying that he will appeal — but could make no further comment as the judge's opinion had not at that time been issued.

As an expatriate Englishman I find this attitude one of the big differences between our two countries — inability to accept the findings of a court of law. Does the average U.S. citizen have so little faith in the judiciary that his automatic reaction to any legal opinion differing from his own is — appeal?

No wonder that the courts are so clogged!

Unpleasant Thought For Unpleasant Nurse

Having been a recent patient at Marin General, I report that three out of four of the nurses and attendants were pleasant. The fourth was, however, not so. She was a drill sergeant in the worst tradition. In fact, I believe that she had been weaned on Tabasco sauce.

Pleasantness in all respects is an essential part of therapy. Therefore, I would say to the nurses and employees of all hospitals: "Be pleasant at all times. Shape up or ship out!"

'We Have Very Best' Of Newspaperboys

I have read editorials about the paper boys. Well we have the very best, in my opinion.

Kirk Brown climbs three and four flights of stairs to deliver the paper to old people. I am incapacitated and that young man puts my paper in a bag on my screen. I never have to go outdoors after it. He is so pleasant, kind and courteous. I feel I speak for all his customers. God bless our boys!

Creek, Flood Problem Belong To Residents

Now that Judge Joseph Wilson has made his decision regarding our creek, I would like to express to your readers the philosophy behind the positions I have taken in regard to the Corte Madera Creek issue. Let me emphasize that this is a personal view, and while it is consistent with the goals of the Save Our Creek Committee, of which I am a co-chairman, I do not want to assume these thoughts represent all members of the group.

I refer to Corte Madera Creek as our creek, and by that I mean that it belongs to all those residents of the Ross Valley area who have enjoyed and continue to enjoy its natural beauty. At the same time, the flooding problems of the Creek in the surrounding area are our problem. Just as the preservation of beauty Is our responsibility, so also is the prevention of property damage by flood waters.

The critical issue is to achieve a reasonable balance in the execution of these responsibilities, and no agency, either private or public, has the same interest in this balance as do those of us who remain to live with the results. In this respect, I would consider a superconservationist reaction for no flood control as unacceptable as I consider the current devastation plan for the creek a disaster.

In seeking a solution for its flooding problems, this community requested federal assistance. Instead, it was to receive federal control. In 1969, a majority of the voters of the town of Ross (850 of the, then, approximately 1,400 voters) decided via petitions, that the destruction of the Creek was too high a price to pay for the Corps of Engineers' assistance. Now, over two years later, this community is going to take back the right to decide its own course of action. . .

Add Some Flourishes To Drunk Driver List

Periodically I read the doleful list of drunk driving convictions in an otherwise inoffensive paper. It reads like credits for a bad movie. First the judge's name, then the name and age and address of the fallen. I am sure that advertisement will forever dissuade sots from treading on the law, and that is the justification for printing such graceless columns. Still, it is a bit tedious. How about adding some flourishes, such as vivid stories about alcoholic debaucheries uncovered by the law, with photos of leering epithet spitting drunks pitching into gutters and thrashing bartenders and fellow lushes they'd just now professed undying affection to? Sounds pretty sensational, indeed.

President Clinging To Discredited Policy

President Nixon's latest televised address on foreign policy was rather disappointing to those of us expecting a major breakthrough. It is not surprising that Mr. Nixon chose the very first month of an election year to reveal the substance of private peace talks with North Vietnam. With campaign rhetoric he tells us that North Vietnam is demanding that we "overthrow" the present government in the South! North Vietnam responded that the condition was "the abandonment of all support" to the southern regime. It is ironic that President Nixon should equate such a loaded word as overthrow with our withdrawal of support from this regime when the CIA was intimately involved with bhe active overthrow of the Diem regime.

Mr. Nixon is clinging to the policies that have in the past managed to prolong the conflict. Although he is proposing we withdraw our military troops six months after internationally supervised secret elections in South Vietnam, the conditions over there would make the elections a farce. . .

Further research into the Pentagon Papers shows that "without the threat of U.S. intervention, South Vietnam could not have refused to even discuss the election called for in 1956 under the Geneva settlement without being immediately overrun by the Vietnminh armies. .

Without U.S. aid in the years following, the Diem regime certainly, and an independent South Vietnam almost certainly could not have survived." In brief the analyst concludes, "South Vietnam was essentially the creation of the United Sates."

I believe the American people are certainly ready (and have been for some time) to admit our mistakes and attempt to redeem ourselves. We are ready to abandon a government that is merely our creation through direct violation of the Geneva accords. We no longer want to support a corrupt government that does not have the support of the people of Vietnam and has not managed to gain it in 17 years.

Nixon's Aide Starts Vietnam Debate In Worst Possible Way

WASHINGTON — Henry Kissinger says there is ample room for political debate over how to get peace in Vietnam.

If the advocates of the way Nixon is handling the negotiations keep up the debate as Haldeman and in muted tone, Herbert Klein, the administration communications director, have begun, they are going to undercut, not strengthen, the President's support.

HALDEMAN'S THESIS that most of the Democratic critics "are consciously aiding and abetting the enemy" is unprovable, unfair and irrelevant.

It is unprovable because he deals with motive.

It is unfair because it is untrue. Nixon's Democratic critics are not "consciously" helping Hanoi because they accept Hanoi's one-sided peace terms; they accept Hanoi's one-sided peace terms because they believe it is better to give the Communists everything to get an instant settlement.

Haldeman is making an irrelevant — and a self-defeating — argument because, as the results have already shown, questioning motives puts the President on the defensive and shifts the debate from the substance of policy, where Nixon is strong, to name-calling, where Nixon can be seriously hurt.

MY OWN CONVICTION is that the extreme Democratic critics — McGovern, Lindsay, Fulbright and others — are doing the United States a grave disservice by urging that the United States give to Hanoi by negotiation what it hasn't won in battle, namely, the destruction of the government of South Vietnam.

Muskie now goes almost as far. This may help him win the nomination but lose the election. He advocates that the United States withhold all economic and military aid to Saigon unless it takes Communists into the government without elections.

In a conversation with Stewart of Newsweek, Muskie disclosed that when he recently critized Nixon for not making enough concessions to Hanoi he (Muskie) didn't know what the President had actually offered. When Alsop told him that Kissinger had publicly announced that the United States had offered a fixed withdrawal deadline in exchange for prisoner release, Muskie replied: "Then what are they knocking me for? That's just what I proposed."

Fair enough — within limits. But equally fair counterquestions can be asked. Why is Muskie criticizing the President for not doing what he has already done and already publicly announced? And shouldn't a candidate for President get the facts before attacking?

THE PRESIDENT HAS, in effect, apologized for the Haldeman goof by stressing that he did not "question the honesty or patriotism" of his Vietnam critics and by saying that he was entirely in favor of "free debate and criticism" on Vietnam.

This may be the last chance, before the heat and scuffle of the campaign takes over, to get the discussion of Vietnam back onto a reasonable level.

Vietnam policy is going to be debated from now to November — and should be.

There is a vital and valid issue. It is this: Should the United States join the Communists in bringing down the South Vietnamese government while bringing home our troops? Nixon says no. Most of his Democratic critics say yes. This may be the biggest question the election will decide.

Kind Words From GOP's Mitchell Further Muddy Florida Primary

WASHINGTON — If ever anything is calculated to make a presidential candidate stop and wonder where he went astray, it is for the chief political operative of the other party to say nice things about him. That is what just happened to Hubert Humphrey and Henry Jackson, and while it may seem mysterious at first reading it is much more clear in the light of what is happening in Florida.

The Republicans are now seriously afraid that Mr. Nixon could be beaten in November — but only by Edmund Muskie, among those actively seeking the Democratic nomination. They also perceive that Muskie is in potential trouble in the confused March 14 Florida primary, so they have common cause with Humphrey, Jackson and all the other Democratic candidates trying to stop him there. It is their first chance, possibly their best. And if they miss it, it could even be their last.

THUS, JOHN MITCHELL prepares his first political speech of the year, for a Republican fund-raising dinner here in Washington. He resigned yesterday from the Justice Department to run the President's campaign, as he did four years ago. And the most newsworthy paragraphs in that speech are not the ones criticizing the candidates who have turned thumbs-down on Mr. Nixon's Vietnam peace proposal. Everybody in the administration has been issuing those. They are instead words of statesmanlike praise for Humphrey and Jackson.

Sure, these two have disagreed with the President on the war, the attorney general concedes. "But to their lasting credit, now that the President has revealed his pending peace proposal, they have refrained from doing or saying anything which would undercut the President's negotiating position, or encourage Hanoi to prolong the war in the hope of getting a better deal after Election Day," he said.

Before examining that on its merits, consider its political background. The consensus now is that Muskie will win the New Hampshire primary easily, having scared most of the opposition away from his New England backyard. The question there is not whether, but by how much. But in Florida a week later, the situation is drastically different.

THE POLLS and the more intuitive pulse-takers agree now that George Wallace is leading there and expected to win. After taking his percentage off the top for regional pride/prejudice, the vote that will matter most in national terms is that for the second, third and fourth places. That contest involves Muskie, Humphrey, Jackson, George McGovern, John Lindsay and perhaps even Shirley Chisholm.

While Jackson's effort to cut into the Wallace vote seems to be going nowhere, Humphrey's credentials with the blacks and his special rapport with the old folks help him look stronger than anyone except his own ebullient self expected at New Year's. And Lindsay's television campaign, his concentration on the Miami refugees from New York, make his prospects a question mark increasingly bothersome to the competition.

As for Muskie, he is not setting any exciting fires. He simply has the look of a winner. Yet, after traveling with him, I find myself wondering whether my positive assessment of his campaign grows more out of its personnel depth and efficiency than from public response to his efforts.

FLYING BACK to Washington from Florida, Muskie made no pretense of minimizing the damage he might suffer there. Of course, he would be in trouble if he finished worse than second. And, of course, that is just what could happen if all those after Wallace come in in a tight bunch, separated only by a percentage point or two.

That is what Mr. Nixon and Mitchell would like to see. If Muskie can be slowed down early, the Democratic competition will be that much more bitter and drawn out. Best of all, in the Republicans' recent memory, would be to start a general election campaign against a Democratic Party torn apart in another convention battle over both nominees and policy.

That is why the assumption that Mr. Nixon is planning to bury Vietnam as a 1972 issue should be looked at from two directions. Certainly he wants to remove it from around his own neck, and is making haste slowly to do so. But to stir up more bloodletting over it among the Democrats is profitable Republican fun.

For that purpose, someone with a more delicate touch than H. R. Haldeman would be useful. The presidential assistant's charge that the more critical Democrats were consciously aiding the enemy is the sort of vintage Nixonism that could do more than anything else to unite the majority party. John Mitchell may not seem a subtle man, standing alone. But, next to Haldeman, or his own wife, he is the embodiment of finesse.

Anyway, Give Bob Roumiguiere Brass Award For Good Try

The Good Try Award for February goes to San Rafael realty broker Robert Roumiguiere for his role in a land swap arrangement agreed to by the San Rafael City Council last week after three months of negotiations.

The deal was made with auto dealer Hercules Viglienzone, who had purchased a part of the city's old corporation yard on Francisco Boulevard in 1969.

Roumiguiere handled that sale for the city and was paid a commission on it by the city.

But Viglienzone last November told the council he had run into trouble with Ford Motor Co., which was demanding a larger lot before it would grant him a dealership.

THE COMPLICATED arrangement agreed on last week gave Viglienzone a 70-foot strip of land on one side of his parcel in exchange for money and a 40-foot strip on the other side to the city.

Roumiguiere, who had handled the original sale, argued Viglienzone's case (which was being fought by adjacent property owners) before a series of San Rafael City Council and Planning Commission meetings.

In late January, after more than two months of discussions, the city and Roumiguiere neared agreement. It was at this point that the broker tossed in the Good Try. In a letter to the council, he said the proposed "transaction is certainly beneficial to the city as well as to Mr. Viglienzone."

And after three months' work for Viglienzone, Roumiguiere suggested the city pay him for his efforts. "It certainly seems to me that is only fair and reasonable that the city pay our company a fee for negotiating this transaction," he said in his letter.

MEMORY OF THE OLD San Rafael courthouse will live on, at least for another 24 years.

He got 25 when what was left of the building was demolished, and the first was awarded to Walter E. Zurcher at the chamber's annual installation dinner earlier this month.

Zurcher, owner of the San Rafael Toy Shop, is chairman of the chamber's Downtown San Rafael Merchants Committee.

Teacher Evaluation May Turn Out To Be Futile

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The California State Board of Education has taken a step toward making the schools accountable. How big that step turns out to be will depend on local school boards — and the courts.

The state board adopted unanimously a set of guidelines for teacher evaluation proposed by State Supt. Wilson C. Riles. These call for standards of pupil performance for each grade level or subject matter area, to be used in judging the teacher's effectiveness.

In addition, they call for evaluation of non-instructional duties required of teachers, and of discipline and "maintenance and improvement of a suitable learning environment."

Each school district must adopt its own evaluation system, however. As Superintendent Riles pointed out, "the character of the system and use of the guidelines are strictly optional to local districts."

This is fine for local control. It may, however, lead to complications.

THE STATE BOARD, in its policy statement, notes that the evaluation guidelines adopted by local boards "could serve as a legal basis for determining the lack of professional competence of a certificated employee proposed for dismissal." The farther they depart from the specificity called for in the state-adopted criteria, however, the less legal value they will have.

They may not have too much at best.

Teacher evaluation is called for under a tenure revision measure passed by the Legislature last year, still known as the Stull Bill for its original author.

When Assemblyman John Stull, R-Encinitas, introduced his AB 293 on Jan. 28, 1971, it called for the evaluation procedure and provided: "The governing board of a school district may undertake proceedings to alter the employment status of the employee on the ground that the performance of the employee, as evidenced by evaluations made pursuant to this article, is deficient. . ."

By the time the bill had been amended six times in committee — thrice each in Assembly and Senate — this had disappeared, along with many other provisions of the original measure. The law as enacted makes no mention of using the evaluation for purposes of dismissal. Teacher evaluation may prove, therefore, to become somewhat of an exercise in futility — a time-consuming and largely meaningless process.

If it does more than that, it will be because local school boards adopt criteria at least as specific as called for in the state guidelines and insist that the evaluation be done thoroughly and conscientiously. Then the evaluation reports can at least be used to bring pressure on poor-performing teachers for improvement or to transfer them to duties within their capabilities.

IN THE END, whether the evaluation program produces accountability will depend on the courts.

Stull's AB 293, as introduced, did away with superior court review of teacher dismissals. But that, too, was changed in the committee amending process, largely through efforts of California Teachers Association lobbyists. As signed into law, the measure abolishes the automatic curt review of dismissal of a tenured teacher, but it provides for such review at the teacher's request. Also, it goes a bit beyond the former law which specified only court review of the dismissal procejures, for this was added: "The court, on review, shall exercise its independent judgment on the evidence."

This may make school districts' legal counsel wary of trying to uphold dismissal of a teacher for incompetency on the basis of bad evaluation reports.

So teacher accountability — like school district spending accountability — may still be a distant goal.

Master Plan Joint Meeting

The Las Gallinas Valley Council and the Lucas Valley Homeowners Association will hold a joint meeting today to discuss the homeowner association's proposed Lucas Valley master plan.

The meeting will be at 8 p.m. at the Lucas Valley community center.

The master plan proposal prepared by the homeowners calls for rezoning of six large parcels in Lucas Valley in an effort to keep valley density low and hillsides open.

The association's request for such rezoning will be considered by the Marin County Planning Commission on Feb. 28.

Reservations Are Needed

The planning committee of the Novato Community Congress today advised early reservations for the event to be held Feb. 26 at Novato High School.

Since the maximum seating capacity of the school lecture hall is 300, the committee suggested early reservations, reported Betty Machado, a committee member.

Sunny Hills In Spotlight

A small photography exhibit on Sunny Hills School will be on display the rest of February at the Marin County Library in the administration building at the Civic Center.

The display is part of the school's commemoration of its 77th anniversary next Tuesday. Library Hours during which the display may be viewed are 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. weekdays.

Sunny Hills located in San Anselmo, was founded in 1895 as the San Francisco Presbyterian Orphanage and farm. It now serves as a placement center for young people.

Calendar Dates Back To 31 B.C.

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The oldest recorded calendar date found so far in the Western Hemisphere is the equivalent of 31 B.C., according to the National Geographic Society.

The society said the date was recorded on a stone fragment found by a farmer near the village of Tres Zapotes in Mexico's Veracruz state. It said the fragment came from a stone monument made by the Olmecs, precursors of the Mayans, who appeared in Central America 1,200 years before the birth of Christ.

WHEREAS, said Parcel B is now held by the City of San Rafael for the State of California and therefore said City cannot sell the same at this time and said parcel is subject to the rights of the State of California; and

WHEREAS, Buyer recognizes that City cannot at this time convey good title and also that if the State of California terminates the rights of the City of San Rafael, Buyer's rights under the terms of this Agreement could and may be terminated also; and

WHEREAS, said Parcel A contains approximately 17,000 square feet and Parcel B contains approximately 34,000 square feet; and

WHEREAS, the present value of Parcel A is approximately $51,000.00 and the present value of Parcel B (subject to the rights of the State of California) is approximately $51,000.00 and

WHEREAS, the net square feet difference in said parcels is 17,000 square feet contained in Parcel B; and

WHEREAS, if City had good title and the right to convey, the present value of Parcel B would be $102,000.00; and

WHEREAS, the reasonable rental value of Parcel A is $200.00 per month and the reasonable rental value of Parcel B is $400.00 with the net difference being $200.00 per month.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual convenants herein contained, City agrees to now lease and sell Parcel B to Buyer and convey said real property to Buyer when title and the good right to convey to said Parcel B is vested in said City and Buyer agrees to now lease said real property from City and to purchase the same when City acquires title and the good right to convey to said property and City agrees to now lease Parcel A from Buyer and to purchase the same when title to Parcel B is transferred to Buyer.

The terms and conditions of said reciprocal leases and agreements of same are hereinafter set forth.

1. Lease Price Parcel A:

City agrees to pay to Buyer the sum of $1.00 per year payable on the 1st day of April of each year beginning on the 1st day April 1972 and continuing thereafter during the terms of this Lease.

2. Lease Price Parcel B:

Buyer agrees to pay the City the sum of $200.00 per month beginning on the 1st day of April 1972 and continuing on the 1st day of each and every month thereafter during the term of this Lease.

3. Term:

The term of this Lease and agreement of sale shall be 5 years or until title and the right to convey Parcel B is vested in the City of San Rafael, whichever shall first occur.

4. Purchase Price Parcel B:

If and when within said 5 year period City acquires good title and the right to convey Parcel B, City shall convey the same to Buyer for a purchase price of $3.00 per square foot.

5. Purchase Price Parcel A:

When and if City conveys Parcel B as set forth in 4 above to Buyer, Buyer shall convey Parcel A to City for a purchase price of $3.00 per square foot.

6. Compliance With San Rafael Charter:

It is understood that the within sale is subject to subdivision 7 of Section 7 of Article VII of the San Rafael Charter and it is agreed that the within sale shall be made in compliance with said Charter provision and if for any reason the ordinance required by said Charter does not become effective then and in that event this Agreement shall be null and void and of no further force and effect.

FURTHER COVENANTS AND CONDITIONS

1. City and Buyer further agree that no permanent improvements of any nature or type shall be placed on Parcel B during the term of this Lease or extensions thereof. However, this paragraph shall not be construed in any way to prohibit Buyer from paving, fencing and installing lights on Parcel B.

2. Buyer agrees to pay all taxes due on both Parcel A and Parcel B during the terms of said leases.

3. When and if City acquires title to Parcel B and has right to convey the same, Parcel A and Parcel B shall be conveyed to the respective Buyers subject to (a) zoning regulations, (b) apparent easements and encroachments, (c) real property taxes, if any, and (d) covenants, conditions, restrictions, reservations, rights, rights of way, and easements (including the easement recorded on August 17, 1934 in Book 275 of Official Records at page 197, Marin County Records) now of record, (e) relinquishment of access rights, etc. granted to the State of California by Deed recorded July 13, 1951 in Book 695 of Official Records at page 304, Marin County Records, and to all of the provisions of this Agreement of Sale, and the property is sold in an "as is" condition. It is understood, however, that title to the real property shall be adequate for the issuance of an A.L.T.A. title insurance policy.

4. The Lease to the City of Parcel A shall be for the purpose of ingress and egress (street purposes) to the lands of the City lying to the rear of Parcel A and Parcel B and for the purpose of public utilities only.

5. Parcel B shall be used by Buyer for and in connection with his automobile agency only and for no other purpose, and any deed conveying said property from City to Buyer shall contain a covenant running with the land which shall read the same as the covenant running with the land for the parcel of property heretofore sold to Buyer by City and lying adjacent to Parcel B.

~~6. Buyer shall improve Parcel A pursuant to and in accordance with condition (c) as set forth in those certain conditions of approval approved by the Planning Commission of the City of San Rafael in AA72-5 as contained in the minutes of the San Rafael Planning Commission dated January 25, 1972. These improvements shall be in accordance with standards approved by the City Engineer of the City of San Rafael and Buyer's use of Parcel A shall in no way interfere with any public vehicular traffic over said Parcel A.~~

7. Any and all real estate commission shall be paid by Buyer and City assumes no obligation to pay real estate commissions of any type, kind or amount.

8. The Lease and Agreement of Sale provided for herein shall include the terms of this agreement and any other standard provisions that may be applicable.

9. Neither the Leases nor the Agreement of Sale shall be assignable or in any way alienable without the written consent of the other party. No reasonable request shall be denied.

10. In the event that City is unable within the 5 years provided for herein to obtain title and the good right to convey to Parcel B and Buyer has fully complied with all the terms, conditions and covenants of this Lease, Buyer shall have an option to extend the term of this Lease and Agreement of Sale for an additional period of five (5) years, from and after the end of the five (5) year term provided for herein, upon the same terms, conditions and covenants as are herein contained, save and except the provisions herein with reference to the basic amount of the monthly rental, and the amount of the purchase price. If Buyer desires to exercise said option, he shall give written notice thereof to City at least four (4) months prior to the expiration of the five (5) year term provided for herein. In the event the Buyer exercises this option and gives the notice provided for herein, the rental to be paid for such additional term shall be mutually agreed upon between Buyer and City thirty (30) days after City has received the written notice of election to exercise said option, and, in the event that the parties hereto cannot agree to said rental and purchase price within said thirty (30) day period, then a board of arbitration shall be appointed within an additional thirty (30) days, one by each side and the third by the first two named. Any majority of said arbitrators shall fix such rental and purchase price. Each of the parties hereto agrees to be bound by the decision of the said board of arbitration, provided, however, that if such majority decision establishes the rental value and sale price of the premises at an amount less than the rental and sales price hereinabove set forth and agreed to be paid for the initial term of five (5) years, then, in such latter event, it is agreed the amount to be paid by Buyer for rent and for the purchase price during the extended term shall be equal to the rental and sales price herein agreed to be paid during said initial five (5) year period. Any costs incurred relative to said arbitration shall be borne equally by the parties.

If Buyer exercises the option as set forth herein, said exercise of said option shall automatically extend City's lease on Parcel A. The amount of rent to be paid for said Parcel A shall be commensurate with that adopted on Parcel B.

Arraignment In Burglary Set

Stone Marston Uhl, 20, of San Geronimo, is to be arrainged Feb. 23 in Marin Superior Court on burglary and stolen property charges but a charge of assault with a deadly weapon was dismissed after a preliminary hearing in municipal court.

Judge David Menary Jr. decided there was not enough evidence to hold Uhl for trial on the assault charge which stemmed from the firing of a bullet through the window of the residence of another San Geronimo man on Jan. 29.

He also dismissed a charge of burglarizing a Fairfax house on Aug. 30.

Uhl was ordered to stand trial, however, on charges of burglarizing a house at 3 Shell Road, Mill Valley, on Nov. 23, and concealing stolen property the same day.

Innocent Plea On Auto Theft

Wayne Bernard Freeman, 31, of Sausalito, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a car theft charge. A preliminary hearing was set for Friday.

Freeman was arrested Thursday after California Highway Patrol officers said they found evidence lnking him to the theft of a car stolen Feb. 5 in Concord and later found abandoned in Tamalpais Valley.

A 'Gift Of Life' Makes A Journey

SAN FRANCISCO — The first transatlantic kidney transplant was completed on Christmas Day, 1971, by Dr. Folkert O. Belzer, associate professor of surgery and co-director of the kidney transplant service at the University of California, San Francisco.

Using a portable transport container which he devised, Dr. Belzer was able to take the kidney of a San Francisco automobile accident victim to a waiting patient in Leyden, Holland, 6,000 miles away. For the 41-year-old Dutchman who received the kidney, just 37 hours after its donor died, there could be no finer Christmas gift.

This was the first extended use of Dr. Belzer's small, self-contained unit for transporting kidneys. The machine weighs only 26.4 pounds and, in its vinyl cover, looks like a piece of luggage. Dr. Belzer placed it under his airplane seat during the trip.

The small unit operates on the same principal as a larger mobile unit, developed by Dr. Belzer in 1968, that can be used for kidney storage at UCSF or placed in a truck for transporting kidneys short distances. The small machine is battery-powered. Both units continuously perfuse a kidney with specially-treated oxygenated blood plasma, kept at a cool 6 to 10 degrees Centigrade. In either unit, a kidney can be preserved for as long as 72 hours, but the larger machine provides more built-in safeguards and can be left unattended.

With the development of the small container, and the knowledge that transplants can be done successfully between non-related individuals, it is now theoretically possible to transport a kidney anywhere in the world. However, Dr. Belzer emphasizes that such long trips will be rare.

"We try to give priority to those patients awaiting transplants in Northern California, or at least in this part of the country. But in the case of the donor who died on Christmas eve, we could find only one recipient in this area whose blood and tissue types matched adequately, so the second kidney went to the patient in Holland."

Dr. Belzer stresses that more transplants could be done if more kidneys were available.

Concrete Way To Help Prisoners

BETHANIA, N.C. — At first glance, the name — The Bethania Ex-Offenders Cement and Pottery School — sounds like something dreamed up by a gag writer. But it's for real and on the up and up and doing a great job — for prisoners.

Rev. Moses A. Small, pastor of a Baptist church, also is chaplain for the county prison farm. "Ministers," he says, "will go almost any place except to prisons. People will give to almost any cause, but when you ask for help for prisoners, they don't want to give anything."

So, on two of his few acres, Small started a trade school and usually has eight prisoners learing to make birdbaths, cement pottery, benches and cement animals. Prison authorities agreed to release the students into Small's custody. He's gone a long way in a year, but his ambition is to build a large workshop and a dormitory for 20 men.

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the regular exchange price in effect at the retail store to which returned less the following dollar allowances:

A Charm School For Little Girls

More than 10,000 little girls from 5 to 8 years of age have graduated from a Sugar 'n Spice charm course conducted by Montgomery Ward's Bay Area stores.

Started in 1965 as an addition to the company's Wendy Ward program for teen girls, the Sugar 'n Spice course was an immediate success, according to Christina Nyberg, program director at Ward's Corte Madera store for the past five years.

"I just love working with this age group," said Miss Nyberg, "because they're all so eager to learn and interested in every phase of the course. What makes them particularly appealing is their lack of inhibition and open approach to everything."

The program's objective is to convert little girls to little ladies, according to Miss Myberg, a professional model prior to her association with Wards.

Economics A Target In Israel

By FRANCIS OFNER
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

TELAVIV, ISRAEL — While girding for a difficult diplomatic struggle, Israel also is giving attention to its position on the economic front.

This has become especially urgent because immigration — particularly from the Soviet Union — is assuming massive dimensions.

On the diplomatic front, Israel has decided that "proximity talks" between Israel and Egypt — meaning indirect negotiations under American chairmanship — can proceed if Egypt is willing.

On the economic front, Israel is engaged in a two-pronged effort: It has asked Jewish communities throughout the free world to raise this year a total of $1.1 billion in loans and contributions; and it is trying to expand its exports to a targeted $2 billion by widening its foothold on the European Common Market.

An impressive beginning in fund-raising was made Feb. 1, when 150 U.S. and Canadian leaders of the Israel Bond Organization met at Jerusalem's King David Htel and pledged to sell $450 million worth of bonds in their communities.

The balance of the target figure, $675 million, is expected to come from the United Jewish Appeal in the United States and its affiliated organizations in other Western countries.

Funds from the United Jewish Appeal are donations, while bonds are interest-bearing loans to the State of Israel, redeemable after 10 to 15 years. Bonds income is used directly by the Israeli government for economic development, while United Jewish Appeal funds go for immigration, immigrant absorption, housing, health and social services, and some branches of education.

American Jewish communities have a say in appropriating their funds through representatives on the Jewish agency's board of governors with seats in New York and Jerusalem.

Parallel with such short-term efforts, Israel seeks to increase its exports, hoping for more accommodation with the European Common Market. At present it has a prefrential tariff agreement.

The director general of Israel's Finance Ministry, Abraham Agmon, has just returned from talks with European Common Market officials in Brussels regarding repercussions of Britain's entry into the market. Britain is one of Israel's best customers.

Israel argues that her imports from the 10 countries which now make up the European Common Market amounted last year to $800 million, while her exports to the same countries totaled only $360 million.
